FIRST SHIP TO BE LAUNCHED AUG. 10

Kingston Shipbuilding Corporation Expects to Have the Blossvale Leave Ways at That Time--The Frames for the Fourth Ship Started.

Good progress is being made in the work of building ships at the Island Dock boat yard of the Kingston Shipbuilding Corporation as a visit to the plant by a Freeman reporter this morning disclosed. It is expected that the first ship, which has been named the Blossvale by the United States Emergency Fleet Corporation, will be launched about August 10, and two other ships are well under way.

The frames for the fourth ship to be built were started this morning and just as soon as the first ship is launched a keel for the fourth ship will be laid. An official of the company stated that instructions had been received to lay keels just as fast as the ships were launched, which means that work at this yard will be continued all of this year and probably all of next year. In fact the company has been assured that they will have all they can do for the next two years. What the Shipping Board wants is ships.

About 500 Men Employed.

About five hundred men are employed at present, and there are new employees arriving each day from points outside of Kingston, from the towns and villages along the Hudson river, the Lake Champlain section and also from Massachusetts.

What Ships Are Named.

The names selected by the Fleet Corporation are the Blossvale, the Hyacinth, the Isokum and the Alpharetta for the first four ships. The first named three are under construction.

Dredge Completes Work.

The large Ranssøen dredge which has been in the Rondout creek for nearly two months digging a basin into which the ships are to be launched has completed the work and will leave today or Friday.

A basin, with a maximum depth of twenty feet, has been dredged, and over 40,000 yards of material has been removed. This material has been placed in barges and towed up as far as Glasco where it was dumped.

Preparing Launching Ways.

Contractor Alex Sturgeon is busy at work with his men, leveling and preparing for the launching ways, and much of this work is under way, and will have to be done by divers.

Divers Coming.

Divers have been engaged and are expected within the next few days, the work of preparing the launching ways will be pushed.

New Machinery.

A new blower system, to take care of the shavings and sawdust from all of the buildings has been installed. A new locomotive crane arrived last week and two large cranes are now in use handling the large sticks of timber from the immense piles.

The big cranes run along railroad tracks which have been laid on the Island Dock and lead from the ways where the timber is piled to the sawmill and to where the big ships are under construction. It would be impossible to handle the big sticks of timber without the use of these huge cranes.

With these heavy timbers shaped and fastened as they are by iron strapping and bolts, it would seem that they could withstand almost any pressure that might be brought against them.

Men More Experienced.

With the completion of the Blossvale it will mean that the men will be able to do more work at greater speed on the other ships under construction as they will have had more experience in the art of building these huge ships, the first of their kind ever built along the Rondout creek.

Kent is a Wonder.

It is a wonderful sight and most impressive to watch the men at work on the huge hulls of the largest ships that were ever built in this vicinity, and to see the progress that has been made with the aid of the most modern and powerful machinery with which the big plant is equipped.

Another wonder, although Timekeeper Kent, who is a modest man, does not consider it so wonderful, is the work of Mr. Kent. He makes a specialty of time keeping and for many years was employed by Winston & Company and worked with the concern when it was building the Ashokan reservoir.

So adept has he become in his work that he links numbers and faces together and knows every man at work on the yard at a glance and when asked can tell you what the man's number is, his name, how long he has been employed and what wage he is receiving, and incidentally what sort of a workman he is.

A "Cinch" for Kent.

For instance when The Freeman man walked along through the yard he glanced at a workman, at work high up in the air so high that the number he wore pinned on his cap could not be seen, and turning to

Timekeeper Kent he casually asked him who it was.

"That is No. —, his name is —," replied Mr. Kent, throwing but a single glance up in the air to ascertain what workman the reporter meant. To those who might not understand, it should be stated that when a man enters the employ of the shipyard he is assigned a number and a button with the number on it must wear pinned to his cap or clothing where it can be easily seen.

Timekeeper Kent off-hand can tell you where any particular man whose number is given him is at work, in what gang and in what section of the yard he may be located. Not only that but he just stating to him the man's name he can tell you in an instant what the man's number is or any question relating to his work that may be necessary to know.

Must Have Pass.

No one is allowed to visit the big plant without first securing a pass at the company's office on Ferry street. This pass will permit one to wander over the yard at will and watch one of the most interesting scenes in this vicinity.

Yard Under Guard.

The big plant is under guard night and day and the force of men are in charge of Former Police Sergeant Thomas J. Murray, who makes a most efficient leader.

Will Be a Big Day.

The day that the first ship takes the water from the Island Dock will be a big day in the history of Kingston. Whether any ceremonies will attend the occasion is not known at the present time.

MULTITUDE PAYS MITCHELL HOMAGE

Greatest Funeral in City's History as New York Lays Its Mayor-Soldier to Rest in Woodlawn Cemetery.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 11.—With three squadrons of military aviators dropping flowers from the sky on the cortege and of the city paying silent tribute, together with national and international dignitaries, the funeral of Major John Purroy Mitchell, ex-mayor of New York, who was killed in an airplane accident at Lake Charles, La., was held today with full military honors.

The body of Major Mitchell was carried from the rotunda of the city hall, where it rested in state since yesterday, soon after 8 o'clock this morning and placed upon a gun caisson which carried it to St. Patrick's Cathedral where funeral services were held, and later to Woodlawn cemetery.

A solemn multitude of citizens thronged the city hall park and paid silent homage to the departed aviator as the procession started. A military delegation of three thousand men stood at attention and saluted, as the flag-draped casket was borne down the steps, by eight khaki-clad army sergeants.

Prominent representatives of every branch of civil, military, social, religious and political life fell in line behind the body. More than 10,000 persons joined the procession, forming the most impressive funeral cortege ever witnessed in the city.

Preceding the casket walked the honorary pallbearers, a group of men of national reputation, and prominent military officers. Following the body came the city officials, headed by Mayor Hylan and representatives of every friendly foreign country.

A perfect sea of humanity surged across city hall park as the procession started on its silent way. Throngs of sorrowful people lined the downtown streets and hats were respectfully doffed as the flag covered casket, drawn by black plumed army horses, moved slowly by. The progress to St. Patrick's Cathedral was made through the most solemn gathering of citizens ever assembled in the streets of Manhattan.

An escort of mounted policemen, which cleared lanes for the cortege through the vast crowds, was followed by 1,000 soldiers and many sailors.

Governor Whitman and his staff was close behind the casket in back of which an army horse was led carrying Major Mitchell's military boots in the stirrups with the toes turned backwards, denoting the Ex-Mayor's "last ride."

Final tribute to Mayor Mitchell was paid at St. Patrick's Cathedral when the Rev. Lawrence J. Shealey, of St. Francis's Church, celebrated solemn requiem mass. When the funeral cortege arrived, a great crowd packed Fifth Avenue and the side streets. Lines of khaki clad escorts extended up and down the avenue and as the caisson bearing the aviator's body approached the thousands bared their heads and stood mute, in respect.

Mrs. Mitchell and other members of the family were already in the cathedral. Following the impressive ceremonies, the body was taken to Woodlawn cemetery, where a small squad performed the usual military rites at the grave. Out of respect for the death of Mayor Mitchell, the Stock Exchange and other public financial institutions suspended business for an interval today.

OHIO PRO-GERMAN ESCAPED LYNCHERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

West Hope, Ohio, July 11.—The Rev. Philip Peters, expelled alien pastor, returned to his home here under cover of darkness last night simultaneously with the arrival of federal investigators. Peters is charged with being an I. W. O. leader and a director of German propaganda.

New threats of violence have been vowed against Peters, who Tuesday night trampled an American flag Governor Cox telegraphed Sheriff Spencer that he would send troops if necessary.

Looks Dangerous to Passengers.

The ruins of the storehouse burned some time ago on the Strand are close to the street railway track. A part of the wall next the street rises in narrow portions that are so fully charred and so thin that it is hard to believe they will not topple over. If they fall into the street it will pile a ton or more of debris on the track. If a car is passing with its heavy loads of passengers going to and from Kingston Point the fatality may be tremendous. A moving car may at any time topple over the mass.

Unusual Blast.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Wilmington, Del., July 11.—Workmen in the quarries at Augustine, Del., a few miles from here, set off a blast which shook the entire city here. Unusual atmospheric conditions exaggerated the report which was heard for forty miles. No damage was done.

WAR AT A GLANCE

Further gains have been made by the allies on nearly all of the battle fronts during the past twenty-four hours.

Briefly they may be summarized as follows:

Picardy—The British improved their positions east of Villers-Bretonneux (opposite Amiens) extending their lines.

Marne—The French captured the village of Corcy in a storm attack, taking nearby ground and beating in the northern wing of the German salient that has its apex at Faverolles.

Balkan—In southern Albania French and Italian troops have advanced in the Tevoli and Semeti valleys, occupying high ground of great strategic importance.

On the Italian front there have been minor operations, and artillery duels, but the Italians have contented themselves with strengthening the newly acquired positions on the Piave.

Keen interest continues to be directed toward the allies' campaign in the Balkans. This is probably the most obscure theater of war in all Europe and news of the operations there dribbles out slowly.

The allies have advanced their line in southern Albania to an average depth of about fifteen miles and the important town of Berat (30 miles northeast of Valona) is now surrounded on three sides. The Franco-Italian detachments that attacked on the center near the Senti river, are now to the northwest of Berat, while the allied detachments that are fighting in the Devoli valley now stand northeast of the town.

Unless there is some unforeseen eventuality Berat will probably fall very shortly.

It is not at all improbable that the allies may attempt to land troops north of the present fighting line in Albania if a suitable harbor can be found for the purpose.

The Austro-Hungarians could be taken to two flanks then and be compelled to withdraw from the coast into the interior mountains.

Events in Russia are still commanding much interest. General Korniloff, who won great distinction during the fighting days of the Russian army, is again reported to be leading a counter revolution.

Korniloff has twice been reported dead and not long ago said to be suffering from a severe wound and living on public charity. Consequently it can be seen that "news" coming out of Russia must be treated with considerable reserve.

Troop Train Wrecked.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Shreveport, La., July 11.—Two men were probably seriously injured and three received minor injuries in the wreck of a troop train of 14 coaches on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad, eighteen miles east of here last night, about 11:45 o'clock. The injured were conveyed here this morning to the Shreveport Sanitarium. The seriously injured are: Corporal E. T. Houston, Caldwell Texas, and Private Joseph Allen Tatum, Texas. Seven cars were derailed. The cause of the accident had not been determined early today.

SHOT DOWN COMPANION IN ROAD AT MALDEN

Apparently Unprovoked by an Attack Sam Mingano Deliberately Fires Into the Head of Joe Motch Then Disappears --Not a Clue to the Murderer Obtained in All Night Search--Alarm Sent Broadcast.

WANTED—An Italian about 43 years of age; name Sam Mingano; for the murder of Joe Motch, an Italian, on the evening of Wednesday, July 10, in Malden, Ulster county. Tall, slender, black hair and mustache, dark eyes, spare face. Both were employed in the Cantine paper mills at Saugerties and resided in Malden. Mingano is supposed to be in hiding along the river. He wore an old blue suit, blue shirt, dark soft hat and black shoes. Notify Sheriff Smith, Kingston, N. Y., of any suspect in this vicinity.

Joe Motch and Sam Mingano live in Malden village, near the brick yards. Motch was about 28 years old and Mingano 43. Both have families, each with five children. They reside in a double house in Malden. Daily they walk three miles to their work in the Cantine paper mills and home again in company and were supposed to have been the best of friends.

Mrs. Stephen Hines, Jr., at her home on the state road only a short distance from the four corners in the village saw the two men together in the middle of the road about 7:30 last night. According to report obtained this morning the woman caught sight of them just when Mingano fired a shot and Motch fell. She saw Mingano leap a barb wire fence and cut through a small grove or brush toward his home which lies near the river.

A bunch of children were near Mingano's house but they saw nothing of Mingano so he couldn't at that time have gone directly to his home. Soon after nine o'clock when Sheriff Smith and his party reach Malden they at once went to the house and searched it. But Mingano was not there, nor had he been there after returning from his work as far as could be learned. Under Sheriff Jocelyn watched the house all night. But Mingano did not return.

It was 8 o'clock when Lasher & Burhans, undertakers at Saugerties, were called. Mr. Lasher is the corner at Saugerties. When they arrived at Malden they found Motch lying in the road on his back surrounded by a large number of people. He was still breathing. He was at once attended by a physician who pronounced his injuries possibly fatal. He was quickly conveyed to the Kingston City hospital in this city in Lasher & Burhans car. At the hospital an operation was performed to remove broken parts of his skull, the man still breathing but unconscious. He died about midnight, without regaining consciousness. The ball was not recovered. It had entered the left temple causing a wide radius of fractures. Mr. Burhans said that evidently the body had not been disturbed when he and the coroner reached it. Nor were there signs of a struggle. From all accounts it appears that whatever the difficulty that arose between the men the shot was deliberately fired without any attack being made to provoke the shooting.

What the trouble was about has not yet definitely appeared. There were various theories attributed to the differences between the two men. Something was said about a watch chain over which they had quarrelled at Saugerties. Just before the shooting the two men walked into John Zeilman's hotel in Malden and two beers apiece. Where the shooting occurred was only 450 feet from the hotel.

It was about 8:30 when news of the shooting reached the sheriff's office. Fifteen minutes later Sheriff Smith and his party were speeding toward Malden in his high power car. The sheriff was accompanied by Under

MULTITUDE PAYS MITCHELL HOMAGE

Greatest Funeral in City's History as New York Lays Its Mayor-Soldier to Rest in Woodlawn Cemetery.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 11.—With three squadrons of military aviators dropping flowers from the sky on the cortege and of the city paying silent tribute, together with national and international dignitaries, the funeral of Major John Purroy Mitchell, ex-mayor of New York, who was killed in an airplane accident at Lake Charles, La., was held today with full military honors.

The body of Major Mitchell was carried from the rotunda of the city hall, where it rested in state since yesterday, soon after 8 o'clock this morning and placed upon a gun caisson which carried it to St. Patrick's Cathedral where funeral services were held, and later to Woodlawn cemetery.

A solemn multitude of citizens thronged the city hall park and paid silent homage to the departed aviator as the procession started. A military delegation of three thousand men stood at attention and saluted, as the flag-draped caisson was borne down the steps by eight khaki-clad army sergeants.

Prominent representatives of every branch of civil, military, social, religious and political life fell in line behind the body. More than 10,000 persons joined the procession, forming the most impressive funeral cortege ever witnessed in the city.

Preceding the caisson walked the honorary pallbearers, a group of men of national reputation, and prominent military officers. Following the body came the city officials, headed by Mayor Hylan and representatives of every friendly foreign country.

A perfect sea of humanity surged across city hall park as the procession started on its silent way. Thronged of sorrowful people lined the downtown streets and hats were respectfully doffed as the flag-covered caisson, drawn by black plumed army horses, moved slowly by. The progress to St. Patrick's Cathedral was made through the most solemn gathering of citizens ever assembled in the streets of Manhattan.

An escort of mounted policemen, which cleared lanes for the cortege through the vast crowds, was followed by 1,000 soldiers and many sailors.

Governor Whitman and his staff were close behind the caisson in back of which an army horse was led carrying Major Mitchell's military boots in the stirrups with the toes turned backward, denoting the Ex-Major's "last ride."

Final tribute to Mayor Mitchell was paid at St. Patrick's Cathedral when the Rev. Terrence J. Sheehy, of St. Francis's Church, celebrated solemn requiem mass. When the funeral cortege arrived, a great crowd packed Fifth Avenue and the side streets. Lines of khaki-clad escorts extended up and down the avenue and as the caisson bearing the aviator's body approached the thousands upon thousands of persons bared their heads and stood mute, in respect.

Mrs. Mitchell and other members of the family were already in the cathedral. Following the impressive ceremonies, the body was taken to Woodlawn cemetery, where a small squad performed the usual military rites at the grave. Out of respect for the death of Mayor Mitchell, the Stock Exchange and other public financial institutions suspended business for an interval today.

OHIO PRO-GERMAN ESCAPED LYNCHERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

West Hope, Ohio, July 11.—The Rev. Philip Peters, expelled alien pastor, returned to his home here under cover of darkness last night simultaneously with the arrival of federal investigators. Peters is charged with being an I. W. W. leader and a director of German propaganda.

New threats of violence have been vowed against Peters, who Tuesday night trampled an American flag. Governor Cox telegraphed Sheriff Spencer that he would send troops if necessary.

Looks Dangerous to Passengers.

The ruins of the storehouse burned some time ago on the Strand are close to the street railway track. A part of the wall next the street rises in narrow portions that are so full of rubble and so thin that it is hard to believe they will not topple over. If they fall into the street it will pile a ton or more of debris on the track. If a car is passing with its heavy loads of passengers going to and from Kingston Point the fatality may be tremendous. A moving car may at any time topple over the mass.

Unusual Blast.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Wilmington, Del., July 11.—Workmen in the quarries at Augustina, Del., a few miles from here, set off a blast which shook the entire city here. Unusual atmospheric conditions exaggerated the report which was heard for forty miles. No damage was done.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

CORP. LOUIS TODOR.

158th Aero Squadron. One of the survivors of the Turinla. At present somewhere in England. He was formerly of this city.

James A. McCordle of 146 Highland avenue, this city, who enlisted in the U. S. Navy in March, is at the present time in European waters.

Miss Emma Messing of 37 Liberty street, this city, has received word from her friend, Private Jesse Dugan, of his safe arrival overseas. He is enjoying life in Sunny France and is very interested in that country.

Thomas M. McCordle of 146 Highland avenue, the well known Western Union operator, of this city, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy, Radio Department, having obtained a second class rating, as radio operator. He expects to be called to enter the service in the near future.

WAR AT A GLANCE

Further gains have been made by the allies of nearly all of the battle fronts during the past twenty-four hours.

Briefly they may be summarized as follows:

Picardy.—The British improved their positions east of Villers-Bretonneux (opposite Amiens) extending their lines.

Marne.—The French captured the village of Corcy in a storm attack, taking nearby ground and beating in the northern wing of the German salient that has its apex at Favencourt.

Balkans.—In southern Albania French and Italian troops have advanced in the Trevoli and Semeti valleys, occupying high ground of great strategic importance.

On the Italian front there have been minor operations, and artillery duels, but the Italians have contented themselves with strengthening the newly acquired positions on the Piave.

Keen interest continues to be directed toward the allies' campaign in the Balkans. This is probably the most obscure theater of war in all Europe and news of the operations there dribbles out slowly.

The allies have advanced their line in southern Albania to an average depth of about fifteen miles and the important town of Berat (30 miles northwest of Valona) is now surrounded on three sides. The French-Italian detachments that attacked on the center near the Sani river, are now to the northwest of Berat, while the allied detachments that are fighting in the Devoli valley now stand northeast of the town.

Unless there is some unforeseen eventuality Berat will probably fall very shortly.

It is not at all improbable that the allies may attempt to land troops north of the present fighting line in Albania if a suitable harbor can be found for the purpose.

The Austro-Hungarians could be taken on two flanks then and be compelled to withdraw from the coast into the interior mountains.

Events in Russia are still commanding much interest. General Korniloff, who won great distinction during the fighting days of the Russian army, is again reported to be leading a counter revolution.

Korniloff has twice been reported dead and not long ago said to be suffering from a severe wound and living in public charity. Consequently it can be seen that "news" coming out in narrow portions that are so full of rubble and so thin that it is hard to believe they will not topple over. If they fall into the street it will pile a ton or more of debris on the track. If a car is passing with its heavy loads of passengers going to and from Kingston Point the fatality may be tremendous. A moving car may at any time topple over the mass.

Troop Train Wrecked.

SHOT DOWN COMPANION IN ROAD AT MALDEN

Apparently Unprovoked by an Attack Sam Mingano Deliberately Fires Into the Head of Joe Motch Then Disappears --Not a Clue to the Murderer Obtained in All Night Search--Alarm Sent Broadcast.

WANTED—An Italian about 40 years of age; name Sam Mingano; for the murder of Joe Motch, an Italian, on the evening of Wednesday, July 10, in Malden, Essex county. Tall, slender, black hair and moustache, dark eyes, spare face. Both were employed in the Cantine paper mills at Saugerties and resided in Malden. Mingano is supposed to be in hiding along the river. He wears an old blue suit, blue shirt, dark soft hat and black shoes. Notify Sheriff Smith, Kingston, N. Y., of any suspect in this vicinity.

Joe Motch and Sam Mingano live in Malden village, near the brick yards. Motch was about 28 years old and Mingano 45. Both have families, each with five children. They reside in a double house in Malden. Daily they walk three miles to their work in the Cantine paper mills and home again in company and were supposed to have been the best of friends.

Mrs. Stephen Hines, Jr., at her home on the slate road only a short distance from the four corners in the middle of the road about 7:30 last night. According to report obtained this morning the woman caught sight of them just when Mingano fired a shot and Motch fell. She saw Mingano leap a barb wire fence and cut through a small grove or brush towards his home which lies near the river.

A bunch of children were near Mingano's house but they saw nothing of Mingano so he couldn't at that time have gone directly to his home. Soon after 8 o'clock when Sheriff Smith and his party reached Malden they at once went to the house and searched it. But Mingano was not there, nor had he been there after returning from his work as far as could be learned. Under Sheriff Jocelyn watched the house all night. But Mingano did not return.

It was 8 o'clock when Lasher & Burhans, undertakers at Saugerties, were called. Mr. Lasher is the corner at Saugerties. When they arrived at Malden they found Motch lying in the road on his back surrounded by a large number of people. He was still breathing. He was at once attended by a physician who pronounced his injuries possibly fatal. He was quickly conveyed to the Kingston City hospital in this city in Lasher & Burhans car. At the hospital an operation was performed to remove broken parts of his skull, the man still breathing but unconscious. He died about midnight, without regaining consciousness. The ball was not recovered. It had entered the left temple causing a wide radius of fractures. Mr. Burhans said that evidently the body had not been disturbed when he and the coroner reached it. Nor were there signs of a struggle. From all accounts it appears that whatever the difficulty that arose between the men the shot was deliberately fired without any attack being made to provoke the shooting.

What the trouble was about has not yet definitely appeared. There were various causes attributed to the differences between the two men. Something was said about a watch chain over which they had quarrelled at Saugerties. Just before the shooting the two men walked into John Zeilman's hotel in Malden and had two beers apiece. Where the shooting occurred was only 450 feet from the hotel.

It was about 8:30 when news of the shooting reached the sheriff's office. Fifteen minutes later Sheriff Smith and his party were speeding toward Malden in his high power car. The sheriff was accompanied by Under Sheriffs Haulenbeck and Jocelyn, Jailor Robert Every and Deputy Sheriff Wm. Cohen. At Malden they were joined by Deputy Sheriff Bert Whitaker. Nobody there could give any information to the sheriff in finding Mingano. Sheriff Smith prosecuted vigorous inquiries and all that he could learn was that Mingano was last seen heading across lots.

Leaving Under Sheriff Jocelyn to search the house until morning, when a close search of the premises failed to reveal any clue to aid the rest of the party made an extended search of the fields and roads as far as Malden, going through the brick yards and along the river banks. If Mingano had crossed the river, as was thought, might have been the case, it must have been with the aid of a row boat, but no trace could be obtained of such a boat. None was missing. No trace of the shooting iron has been obtained.

Sheriff Smith said this morning that he thought that the man is still hiding some where near Malden. The sheriff and Jocelyn, accompanied by deputies, Joe Avery and Will Rose, went back to Malden, this morning, to resume the search. All points on the railroad where it is likely he will be seen if he takes a train from a station are covered, and the police and other officers up and down the river have been placed on guard. The two men were supposed to have been close friends. Morning and night they went to their work and returned home together. In the hotel they were apparently as friendly as ever. They were not regarded as quarrelsome. With their large families to support they worked steadily.

Coroner Lasher this morning came to the city and returned to Saugerties with the body of Motch, which is now lying in the undertaking rooms at Saugerties. It was stated that Motch's family will not be able to pay the expense of the burial and the body will probably be interred in the Catholic cemetery at Saugerties.

Motch and his family have lived in this country about ten

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 11.—From the very first quotation the stock market showed decided weakness today, giving the appearance of a bear drive at the opening. Declines were general and ranged from small fractions to a point in many issues, while specialties dropped from 1 to 3 points. Such stocks as Crucible, Baldwin Republic and U. S. Steel dropped from one to two points. Steel Common started at 104 1/2 to 105 and then yielded to 104 1/2 against 105 1/2 at the close yesterday. In the general list initial prices showed slight declines in American Can, Cigar Stores, Central Leather, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Reading, Sinclair and Marine preferred. Wilson was the exception to the display of weakness, starting 1 1/2 higher. By the end of the first fifteen minutes prices rallied about half a point in Baldwin, Crucible and Sumatra.

During the first hour losses of from one to four points were general throughout the list. U. S. Steel sold down to 104 1/2, a loss of 1 1/2, and similar losses were sustained throughout the industrial list. Marine preferred fell 1 1/2 to 99 1/2, recovering to 100 1/2. Out of respect to the memory of former Mayor Mitchell, the stock exchange was not in session between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock today. The stock market closed heavy today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Officer Andy Walker is Kingston's First Motorcycle Cop and Assumed His Duties Today—Cows and Chickens Destroy War Gardens.

Officer Andrew W. Walker, better known among his fellow officers and friends as "Andy," has the honor of shouldering the distinction of being Kingston's first motorcycle cop, and assumed his new duties today on his Harley-Davidson. Andy cut quite a figure when he drove up to the city hall on his motorcycle, clad in a uniform of khaki, this morning. He will have no definite post or beat but has the whole city to cover and his duty will be to run down traffic violators. As his machine can cover ground at the rate of over 30 miles an hour it will take some speeder to escape him.

Certain streets of the city have been persistently used for speeding, which led to Chief Wood taking the matter up with the police board with regard to adding a motorcycle to the police equipment. Andy Walker has had considerable experience as a bicycle rider and it did not take him long to learn how to handle a motorcycle. Other members of the force will also be assigned for duty on the motorcycle.

Speeders had best beware hereafter for when rounded up it is hardly likely that they will escape with small fines owing to the fact that the price of gasoline has jumped.

No new cases of measles were reported to the health board Wednesday.

Several complaints have been made to the police department lately regarding the cows owned by Mrs. Kryeski of Hooker street. It is claimed she allows them to run loose and they get into and destroy war gardens in that vicinity.

Complaints have also been made with regard to certain residents allowing their chickens to run loose in others people's gardens digging up plants and seeds.

If further complaints are received it is quite likely that warrants will be issued and arrests will follow. If any are arrested and proven guilty it is hardly likely that any leniency will be shown.

Charles Kleine, the West O'Reilly street house painter, has just completed painting the residence of Chief Wood.

Allen women who registered recently with the police department must call at police headquarters before Saturday of this week to secure their cards. This matter should not be overlooked. There are about twenty-five women who have so far neglected to secure their cards.

The city fathers will hold a special meeting Friday evening for the purpose of receiving the deed to the Kingston Academy grounds and taking action thereon.

TAX DODGERS.

Many Corporations Liable For Not Having Paid 3 Per Cent Levy.

Albany, N. Y., July 11.—Approximately 1,100 delinquent corporations which to date have failed to pay to the state a tax of 3% based on the net income from their earnings last year, are facing court proceedings, State Comptroller Travis announced today. According to the office records, about this number of manufacturing and mercantile corporations doing all or part of their business in the state have, since February 1st, been rendering themselves liable to penalties when they became subject to a fine of 10% in addition to the amount of the tax, with 1 per cent added after each month's delay.

In some instances these business concerns have raised questions of law in their answers, but there are still a number who so far have failed to acknowledge the repeated demands made upon them. Under the old corporation tax law, this class of corporations were exempt from any state tax and majority of them escaped the assessment locally through a scheme whereby they filed their certificates of incorporation in the smaller rural sections of the state although still conducting their business in New York city and the larger centers of population. In this way, the local assessors were unable to discover the existence of these corporations because their principal place of business was usually located elsewhere.

The new statute was enacted last year and during the session of the legislature just closed, four important amendments were added. Under the present act, two-thirds of the tax of 3% imposed on the net earnings of all manufacturing and mercantile corporations goes to the state and the remaining third is distributed to localities—counties, cities, towns and villages. If the business returns no income, a minimum tax of $10 is levied. The apportionment of this tax among these places is made in accordance with the amount of tangible personal property in the locality. To date, approximately $15,000,000 has been collected but it is expected that at least $20,000,000 will have been received before the end of the year.

Population of the Earth.
In 1787 the population of the earth, according to Busching, was about 1,000,000,000; in 1800, according to Fabri and Stein, only 900,000,000; in 1833, according to Stein and Horschelmann, 872,000,000. In 1858 Dietrich estimated it at 1,268,000,000 and Kolb, in 1885, at 1,220,000,000. According to the latest calculations the earth is inhabited by 1,400,000,000 human beings.

TIME SHOULD BE CONSERVED

Good Way Is to Work on Schedule, Doing the Tasks of the Day by Card System.

To do your various housewifely tasks—whether that includes working your own vacuum cleaner, making your own war bread and tending your own baby, or simply the more complicated task of directing ten servants—in any way but on a schedule—is a luxury and an extravagance, declares a student of home economics. You may like to do it without putting the work on a systematic basis. You may be too temperamental or too indolent to feel inclined to follow a schedule; but not to do so means to waste time, your own and other people's, and that is just what neither you nor anyone else has any right to do during these war days.

The housewife has her task of conserving food supervised and directed by the food administration, and she entrusts the task of providing her with enough coal to the fuel administration. The department of labor takes it upon itself to conserve infant life and through widespread educational work to cut down infant and child mortality. Trees are conserved and wheat is conserved and tin is conserved. Doesn't it seem as if there ought to be a time conserver? Time this summer is as precious as these other things we have been conserving. Without making the best use of our time we shall not have time to roll surgical dressings of which the Red Cross is in such dire need. You could not tend your war garden or do any of the dozen other extra duties you have taken upon yourself to do. Really every woman must be a time conservation department unto herself. The best way to make the best of your time is to work on a schedule and to make a wise schedule for all the people who work under your direction.

Such a schedule is easily kept if you write down each day's required tasks on a plain card. The seven cards can be fastened together and hung up in a convenient place, the cards to be turned back to the right place as the days go by as a constant reminder.

FAVORITE MONTH FOR BRIDES

June Destined to Hold the Place Dear to the Heart of the Wife-to-Be—Bridal Gowns.

June has many glories, but no one that rivals its favor as a bridal month. That war should give its romance an added thrill may well invest its flowered splendor with a new significance dear to sentiment and vital to promoters of the picturesque. The bride has the center of the stage, particularly when she has a soldier beside her. His raiment is fixed by code. Her's has more latitude, yet fashion arrogantly prescribes methods for her also. Veils have their own vagaries, at the brow and in their length. Yet types are close, as every woman knows, to a prevailing ideal, as for example, in the persistent shortness of skirts no matter whether the veil be long or short. The result is to recall the quaint days of Watteau, when slippers played so pretty a part in the pictorial scheme of things. Eyes and smiles, it may be remarked, are still in fashion!

IS HANDY FOR SUMMER WEAR

Rather distinctive besides utilitarian is this handy slip-on sweater. It is made of silk knit that is light enough for the hottest weather.

Gingham Silks.

Because good gingham has gone up in price, and because the cheaper gingham are not desirable, cross bar and plaid voiles are taking their places. The gingham silks, a mixture of silk and cotton, and in pattern like gingham, will do doubt become popular as the season advances.

A Test of Time.

Another way in which a man can tell when he's getting along in years is by noticing whether a reference to the veterans of '98 sounds at all funny to him or not.

PREPARES NOW TO MEET NEXT WINTER'S NEEDS

Red Cross Division Allots 800,000 Pairs of Socks and 185,000 Sweaters to Chapters.

Wool Used Sparingly; Substitutes Employed Wherever Possible—Call for Volunteer Service in Workrooms.

Foreseeing the great needs of the coming winter, the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross has instructed all chapters within its jurisdiction to speed up production. Calls for greatly increased volunteering upon the part of women, in consequence, have gone out.

Next winter our soldiers and sailors will need more socks, sweaters, wristlets, mufflers, helmets and so on, than ever before, and the Red Cross does not intend to be caught short-handed. Chapters in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have been allotted the task of making 800,000 pairs of socks and 185,000 sweaters to be available early in autumn. Work on surgical dressings, hospital and refugee garments must not lag as a result of this allotment.

Women will be asked to come more and more to the workrooms. Those who have been able to give little or none of their day to the Red Cross will be urged to consider seriously the sacrifice of other interests.

Military Needs Come First.

In the meantime, the Red Cross is only using wool for articles the making of which absolutely require it. Substitutes are being employed elsewhere, for the shortage of wool has become such a serious matter that the Red Cross is undertaking, among its other activities, the reclamation of discarded garments and the refurbishing and repair of the winter uniforms of soldiers so that not an inch of this valuable product shall go to waste.

While the War Industries Board has ruled that in the distribution of wool the military needs of the nation must first be met, it has further ordered that the Red Cross shall have second place on the "preference" list.

In order that there may be no wastage through unco-ordinated buying, the Department of Supplies at national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington will, in future, hold itself responsible for the distribution of wool to chapters. It will requisition such wool as may be necessary and this wool will be released to the Red Cross by the War Industries Board as fast as it is obtainable in excess of the necessary requirements of the Quartermaster's Department.

The custom of independent buying has, in a few instances, resulted in the Red Cross chapters bidding against each other. This will now be done away with. Chapters will be informed by headquarters how much work they must turn out and the material to work on supplied them as fast as possible.

To preclude the keeping of yarn at home by individuals all wool that is issued must be accounted for. It must either be made up into a finished garment, or that portion of it not so used returned. This move will take all yarn in the Army and Navy colors from the public market so that none can be purchased and made up by individuals into gifts.

This, in turn, will end the overlapping of effort, and no soldier or sailor will receive from home garments which are duplicates of those being given him by the Red Cross.

RED CROSS BUILDING FORTY NURSES' HOUSES AT CAMPS.

The American Red Cross is planning forty Nurses' Recreation Houses, to be built, at the request and with the approval of the Surgeon General, at the cantonments and base hospitals in connection with nurses' barracks. All of these buildings will be in use within the next two months, judging by the speed with which Red Cross work has been completed in the past. Already in many places these club houses, with their white walls and red roofs, are going up under the eyes of the nurses themselves.

The general purpose is to provide every comfort for the nurses serving in the cantonment and base hospitals. The main room, 30 by 75 feet, will have a great open fireplace along one side. Although the room ordinarily will be used as a living room, it will also be adapted for an assembly hall and can be used for dances and receptions.

Overlooking this room is a small balcony, from which motion pictures can be thrown on the wall opposite. Opening off this same room will be a library, a sewing-room, equipped with machines and all conveniences, a small laundry and a fully equipped kitchen. The furnishings throughout have been planned to the last detail.

A piano and victrola, folding chairs for assembly purposes, the gold-brown walls and dainty lounges, even the lighting fixtures, with their design suggesting the Red Cross, have been selected and combined to express a sense of home and to supply the needs and add to the comfort of cantonment life. The houses will connect with the nurses' quarters.

Pictures in the Home.

A room without pictures is like a room without windows. Pictures are loopholes of escape to the soul, leading to other scenes and other spheres. Pictures are consolers of loneliness; they are books, they are histories and sermons, which we can read without the trouble of turning over the leaves.—Downing.

TRIPLE MURDER IN WISCONSIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Waukesha, Wis., July 11.—The tangled web of a triple murder which occurred on the farm of William Hill, wealthy farmer and eccentric breeder of blood horses, near here, is today engaging the sleuthing powers of the local police. The three bodies, those of Hill, his sister, and Ernest Fenz, an associate of Hill's, were found on the farm today.

Fenz and Hill had been shot to death. Miss Milda Hill, sister, apparently died from the effects of carbolic acid.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 11.—From the very first quotation the stock market showed decided weakness today, giving the appearance of a bear drive at the opening. Declines were general and ranged from small fractions to a point in many issues, while specialties dropped from 1 to 3 points. Such stocks as Crucible, Baldwin Republic and U. S. Steel dropped from one to two points. Steel Common started at 104 1/4 to 105 and then yielded to 104 1/4 against 105 1/4 at the close yesterday. In the general list initial prices showed slight declines in American Can, Cigar Stores, Central Leather, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Reading, Sinclair and Marine preferred. Wilson was the exception to the display of weakness, starting 1 1/4 higher. By the end of the first fifteen minutes prices rallied about half a point in Baldwin, Crucible and Sumatra.

During the first hour losses of from one to four points were general throughout the list. U. S. Steel sold down to 104 1/4, a loss of 1 1/4, and similar losses were sustained throughout the industrial list. Marine preferred fell 1 1/2 to 99 1/2, recovering to 100 1/2. Out of respect to the memory of former Mayor Mitchell, the stock exchange was not in session between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock today. The stock market closed heavy today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

LIGHT BREAKING.

The truth can be suppressed in Germany, but in this country it goes on to conquer. When the famous "memorandum" of Prince Lichnowsky (former German Ambassador at London), telling the truth about the origin of this war, found its way into print without his sanction, the Prince was imprisoned and the truth suppressed, but his story, already on its way round the world, could not be stopped and finally reached the German-language newspapers in the United States. The editors of these newspapers may have doubted its authenticity when they first saw it in American journals, but when it reached them through the papers of neutral countries, such as Politiken, the organ of Swedish Socialists, the effect was staggering, and now one of these editors—the Germania Herald of Milwaukee—openly confesses his conversion from his former views. His article appears in another column of The Freeman today.

He had believed the German charge that the war was forced on Germany by her enemies, but when one of the "nobles" of the Kaiser's servants unquestionably asserted that Germany encouraged the Austrian attack on Serbia, that she declared war on Russia in spite of the Czar's pledge not to begin hostilities and that England's Premier (with whom Lichnowsky was in touch) from the outset earnestly labored for peace, he was overwhelmed, and in his "open confession" he says: "We know now that the British statesmen and with them the statesmen of the Allies did not only have no war-like measures against Germany but to the last minute endeavored to their utmost to avoid war. The blame for the bloodshed lies with the German government." It may be too much to expect that every other naturalized German, after being fed on lies so long, will squarely face the truth in this honorable manner, but we may be sure that Lichnowsky's accidentally published statement is performing a great service among our naturalized Germans.

A million American soldiers in France, a quarter of a million sent over in June, a million and a half more ready to go as fast as ships can take them, behind them all the patriotism of one hundred million Americans ready to be converted into military effectiveness just as fast as the Government can use them signal disaster to German arms and defeat to German aims. With our present rate of progress maintained the Allied forces on the western front will in a short time more than equal any army that Germany can oppose to them. This is the time when speed counts double. The early superiority of the allies in men and supplies means the saving of thousands of lives through the shortening of the war.

Miss Kathryn Sellers, who has been appointed by the President to be Judge of the Juvenile Court of the District of Columbia, is the first woman ever seated on the bench by Federal authority. It is needless to add that she was not one of the suffragettes who attained notoriety by "picketing" the White House but was a capable law clerk in the State Department.

A member of the German Reichstag has been quoted as saying that "military agriculture has proved a failure," presumably referring to the driving of peasant farmers by soldiers and the robbing of them later of the fruits of their labors. In the United States "military agriculture" in the form of voluntarily worked "war gardens" has proved a success.

German cities near the Rhine now know how it feels to be bombed from the air and are yelling at a great rate. Yet Allied airmen aim only at munition plants or other war-contributing structures while Hun airmen make targets of private residences, hotels, school houses, churches and hospitals.

When he says we have "a cowed press, a cowed people and a cowed Congress," Senator Hiram Johnson does not quite equal but calls to mind that tragic German tale of how this meek and peaceful country was betrayed and dragged into war by a wicked man of the name of Wilson.

"Your money or your life" of the old time highwaymen has been amended by Chicago waiters so as to read: "Tip or have your soup doped." How many of them have been caught with the "dope" and jailed is not stated.

The wooden shoe now being rapidly restored to use in England is said to be neither ugly nor uncomfortable. That may be, but as worn by our old-time American clog dancers wooden shoes were certainly noisy.

SAVE FARM MANURE.

Need of Conserving it Never So Urgent as at Present Time.

The value of the manure produced in New York state every year equals the annual cost of running the state government. This is one of the statements contained in a bulletin entitled, "Farm Manure," just issued by the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. A postal card request for Number 127 will bring a copy to any who may care for it.

It is pointed out that the need for conserving farm manure was never so great as at the present time; the difficulty of securing commercial fertilizers is only one reason for this. The bulletin places emphasis on the humus-making material in the manure, as well as the plant nutrients it contains.

What are considered unusually complete tables form a part of the bulletin. They show the amount of manure produced by the commoner farm animals, its composition and approximate trade values. The tables are given on the basis of manure produced by a thousand pounds, live weight, of animals. They show that a thousand pounds of hens will produce annually on an average of five tons of manure while a thousand pounds of pigs will produce fifteen tons.

This means that the average hen will produce every year ten times its own weight in manure and the pig thirty times its weight.

Computing at pre-war prices the various elements of the manure, the value of a ton of fresh manure ranges from $7.25 for that of the hen to $2.30 for that of the pig. Manure is often, perhaps usually, handled wastefully. It is pointed out, and the bulletin advocates a wider use of the concrete manure pit.

BREED ENDANGERED.

Italians Taking Steps to Preserve Friulan Cattle Strain.

The Italian government is taking energetic steps for the preservation of the famous Friulan breed of cattle. The home of this breed was in the provinces now occupied by the Austrians, and judging by the experience of other territory occupied by German and Austrian forces, the cattle of the country will be entirely wiped out, either moved into the interior of Austria or fed to the troops. Blooded cows and bulls of the Friulan breed, scattered in various parts of Italy, are being gathered together and the breeding of stock has been undertaken by the government. Slaughtering of blooded stock has been prohibited.

This is only one of the problems which the Italian government will have to face when the Italian territory now in the hands of Austria is reconquered. When this takes place, the government will have available, for the immediate restocking of the dairy farms of northern Italy, calves and full-grown stock which will preserve the breed.

Suffragists in Earnest.

Washington, July 11.—Pearls, diamonds and ornaments of silver and gold are pouring into the coffers of the National Woman's party from suffragists, who already have given as much money as they can afford to the fight for suffrage.

A beautiful old gold collar set with twenty-four pearls, a pearl pin and a diamond were received recently from Colorado women. Hammered silver ornaments and jewelry came from Philadelphia women.

"What's our jewelry worth to us unless American women are free?" is the question of the women who are the jewelry. said Miss Mary Gertrude Fendall, treasurer of the Woman's party. "With the money the jewelry will bring either by sale or by auction we are going to do our best to bring victory for suffrage before the proposed senate recess."

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.
July 11, 1898.—Residence of Abraham Hommel at Katsbaan destroyed by fire.

Women of Kingston met at city hall to make pillows, sheets, bandages, etc. for soldiers.

Twenty-two recruits from this city sent to New York by recruiting officer.

Delivers Up Stepson.

Seattle, Wash., July 11.—While military police were trying to find J. H. Cox, reported as missing from Camp Lewis, without leave, Mrs. Charles Cox, his stepmother, found the hiding place of her stepson on a ranch. With a revolver, she forced him to return home, take a bath and then wait the arrival of the police. She followed the arresting officer to youth landed behind the bars before she considered her task done. Mrs. Cox has two sons in the army in France.

Absorbing the Sun's Heat.

According to an Italian scientist's figures a square mile of the earth's surface in six hours of sunshine receives heat equivalent to the combustion of more than 2,000 tons of coal.

BOYS HELPED BY THE POSTMASTER

Letters From Those in Service Who Thank Kingston's Postmaster for His Advice and Material Assistance.

The boys who wrote the following letter to Postmaster DeWitt have the right spirit. Their application for enlistment in the army was made jointly to the postmaster and they were advised and assisted by him, then sent to Poughkeepsie, where they enlisted.

Fort Slocum, N. Y., June 26, 1918.
Dear Kind Sir—Just a few lines to let you know that we passed our examination and are still down at Fort Slocum awaiting orders to be shifted to—we don't know just where, but as soon as we get there we will let you hear from us again. We don't know just how we can thank you for helping us as you did. We thank you one hundred times over again and again and still more than that. As we now are in no position to pay back that bank note that you loaned us (we regret that we cannot pay it now), but as soon as we could pay it we will do so. We will never forget the one great favor you have done for us.

Yours truly,
Privates JOHN A. CIRINA,
JNO. O'SULLIVAN.

Base Hospital, Edgewood, Md., July 8, 1918.

Mr. W. DeWitt:
Dear Sir—I am taking the time to write and tell you how I have made out since I enlisted through your assistance and to thank you for what you have done for me. I enlisted February 18, 1918, and was sent from Poughkeepsie to Fort Slocum, and after spending sixteen days there was sent here to Maryland, and I assure you that the army is a fine place for any fellow, as you have all kinds of experiences.

I will give you some idea of our hours here at the hospital. We get up at 6 a. m. and have ten minutes to get dressed and make our beds, wash up and get outside for roll call. Have our breakfast at 7 a. m. and do our hospital work. Each fellow has ten hours work to do. There are shifts of nurses here at the hospital so that our fellows have ten hours on and fourteen hours off to do as we please. The Y. M. C. A. is some large one; shows about every night, books, magazines to read, all kinds of sports to keep us busy.

There is a fellow down here from Ellenville, who came from Fort Slocum with me. His name is Robert Thornton. He enlisted about the same time that I did. Well, I guess I will close now as it is getting near mess time and I always try to be first, for the first come the first served here, and I have acquired some appetite since I enlisted. Again thanking you for your kind favors, I remain sincerely,

PRIVATE JOSEPH TERRY,
Base Hospital, Edgewood, Md.

TURK FIGHTS WITH FISTS

Story of a Gallipoli "Scrap" That Speaks Well for the "Un-speakable."

There is a tale of Gallipoli that deals with a fight in the open and exhibits the "unspeakable" Turk as a fair and worthy enemy. This is the story.

A young English officer, doing observation work alone, was suddenly confronted by a Turkish officer, similarly equipped. The Turk was as surprised as the Briton, but came forward revolver in hand. The Englishman had no revolver. He stood his ground, his hands in the large pockets of his tunic.

Seeing that his adversary was unarmed, the Turk, much to the surprise of the Briton, threw down his gun and put up his fists in approved prize ring style. The Englishman put himself on guard, and the next moment the Turk flung himself on him, and the pair began to fight desperately. The men were about the same age, the same weight and had adequate knowledge of the art of boxing. They fought without stopping for about ten minutes. By that time each was exhausted, and then paused for a brief rest, only to continue their little private accounting when they had found their breath.

Round after round the fight went on, while out in the Gulf of Saros the ships fired automatically, and back of each of them the field artillery thundered. Neither seemed to be able to get any decisive advantage over the other, and at last Turk and Englishman rolled over on the ground and laughed and laughed.

Just then the Englishman's hand touched something. It was the Turk's pistol. He picked it up and handed it to his enemy. Then the two young men shook hands and each returned to his own lines.

Cactus Candy.

Louisiana has a new product. It is cactus candy. The cactus is peeled, dipped in hot sirup or molasses and coated with powdered sugar.

Women Soldiers.

There were literally scores of women who served in the Northern and Southern armies. Since the war with Germany began more than one woman has been discovered in a soldier's uniform. One, at least, got almost to France before she was detected.

We men of America who, for whatever reasons, are not in the military service honor very greatly the Russian women who entered the army "in the hope of inspiring the men of Russia." We beg to assure them that in case of desperate need the women of America would not hesitate to serve also in the war against the Hun. They have proved their valor in past wars.

Forests of Norway.

The total area of Norway is about 124,500 square miles, of which approximately 26,340 square miles are covered by forests. The greater timber tracts lie in the southern and central sections of the country, where the land is less mountainous and the climate more favorable to forest growth.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Officer Andy Walker is Kingston's first motorcycle cop and assumed his duties today—Cows and Chickens Destroy War Gardens.

Officer Andrew W. Walker, better known among his fellow officers and friends as "Andy," has the honor or should it be stated distinction of being Kingston's first motorcycle cop, and assumed his new duties today on his Harley-Davidson. Andy cut quite a figure when he drove up to the city hall on his motorcycle, clad in a uniform of khaki, this morning. He will have no definite post or beat but has the whole city to cover and his duty will be to run down traffic violators. As his machine can cover ground at the rate of over 30 miles an hour it will take some speeder to escape him.

Certain streets of the city have been persistently used for speeding, which led to Chief Wood taking the matter up with the police board with regard to adding a motorcycle to the police equipment. Andy Walker has had considerable experience as a bicycle rider and it did not take him long to learn how to handle a motorcycle. Other members of the force will also be assigned for duty on the motorcycle.

Speeders had best beware hereafter for when rounded up it is hardly pleasant that they will escape with small fines owing to the fact that the price of gasoline has jumped.

No new cases of measles were reported to the health board Wednesday.

Several complaints have been made to the police department lately regarding the cows owned by Mrs. Kreski of Hooker street. It is claimed she allows them to run loose and they get into and destroy war gardens in that vicinity.

Complaints have also been made with regard to certain residents allowing their chickens to run loose in others people's gardens digging up plants and seeds.

If further complaints are received it is quite likely that warrants will be issued and arrests will follow. It is hardly likely that any leniency will be shown.

Charles Kleinke the West O'Reilly street house painter, has just completed painting the residence of Chief Wood.

When women who registered recently with the police department must call at police headquarters before Saturday of this week to receive their cards. This matter should not be overlooked. There are about twenty-five women who have so far neglected to secure their cards.

The city fathers will hold a special meeting Friday evening for the purpose of receiving the deed to the Kingston Academy grounds and taking action thereon.

TAX DODGERS.

Many Corporations Liable For Not Having Paid 3 Per Cent Levy.

Albany, N. Y., July 11—Approximately 1,100 delinquent corporations which to date have failed to pay to the state a tax of 3% based on net income from their earnings last year, are facing court proceedings. State Comptroller Travis announced today. According to the office records about this number of manufacturing and mercantile corporations doing all or part of their business in the state have since February 1st, been rendering themselves liable to penalties when they became subject to a fine of 10% in addition to the amount of the tax, with 1 per cent added after each month's delay.

In some instances these business concerns have raised questions of law in their answers, but there are still a number who so far have failed to acknowledge the repeated demands made upon them. Under the old corporation tax law, this class of corporations were exempt from any state tax and majority of them escaped the assessment locally through a scheme whereby they filed their certificates of incorporation in the smaller rural sections of the state although still conducting their business in New York city and the larger centers of population. In this way, the local assessors were unable to discover the existence of these corporations because their principal place of business was usually located elsewhere.

The new statute was enacted last year and during the session of the legislature just closed, four important amendments were added. Under the present act, two-thirds of the tax of 3% imposed on the net earnings of all manufacturing and mercantile corporations goes to the state and the remaining third is distributed to localities—counties, cities, towns and villages. If the business returns no incomes, a minimum tax of $10 is levied. The apportionment of this tax among these places is made in accordance with the amount of tangible personal property in the locality. To date, approximately $15,000,000 has been collected but it is expected that at least $20,000,000 will have been received before the end of the year.

Population of the Earth.
In 1787 the population of the earth, according to Busching, was about 1,000,000,000; in 1800, according to Muri and Stein, only 900,000,000; in 1850, according to Stein and Horschelmann, 872,000,000. In 1858 Dietrich estimated it at 1,298,000,000 and Kolb, in 1865, at 1,220,000,000. According to the latest calculations the earth is inhabited by 1,500,000,000 human beings.

TIME SHOULD BE CONSERVED

Good Way is to Work on Schedule, Doing the Tasks of the Day by Card System.

To do your various housewifely tasks—whether that includes working your own vacuum cleaner, making your own bread and tending your own baby, or simply the more complicated task of directing ten servants—in any way but on a schedule—is a luxury and an extravagance, declares a student of home economics. You may like to do it without putting the work on a systematic basis. You may be too temperamental or too indolent to feel inclined to follow a schedule; but not to do so means to waste time, your own and other people's, and that is just what neither you nor anyone else has any right to do during these war days.

The housewife has her task of conserving food supervised and directed by the food administration, and she entrusts the task of providing her with enough coal to the fuel administration. The department of labor takes it upon itself to conserve infant life and through widespread educational work to cut down infant and child mortality. Trees are conserved and wheat is conserved and tin is conserved. Doesn't it seem as if there ought to be a time conserver? Time this summer is as precious as these other things we have been conserving. Without making the best use of our time we shall not have time to roll surgical dressings of which the Red Cross is in such dire need. You could not tend your war garden or do any of the dozen other extra duties you have taken upon yourself to do. Really every woman must be a time conservation department unto herself. The best way to make the best of your time is to work on a schedule and to make a wise schedule for all the people who work under your direction.

Such a schedule is easily kept if you write down each day's required tasks on a plain card. The seven cards can be fastened together and hung up in a convenient place, the cards to be turned back to the right place as the days go by as a constant reminder.

FAVORITE MONTH FOR BRIDES

June Destined to Hold the Place Dear to the Heart of the Wife-to-Be—Bridal Gowns.

June has many glories, but no one that rivals its favor as a bridal month. That war should give its romance an added thrill may well invest its flowered splendor with a new significance dear to sentiment and vital to promoters of the picturesque. The bride has the center of the stage, particularly when she has a soldier beside her. Her raiment is fixed by code. Her's has more latitude yet fashion arrogantly prescribes methods for her also. Veils have their own vagaries, at the brow and in their length. Yet types are close, as every woman knows, to a prevailing ideal, as for example, in the persistent shortness of skirts no matter whether the veil be long or short. The result is to recall the quaint days of Watteau, when slippers played so pretty a part in the pictorial scheme of things. Eyes and smiles, it may be remarked, are still in fashion!

IS HANDY FOR SUMMER WEAR

Rather distinctive besides utilitarian is this handy slip-on sweater. It is made of silk braid that is light enough for the hottest weather.

Gingham Silks.

Because good gingham has gone up in price, and because the cheaper gingham is not desirable, cross bar and plaid voiles are taking their places. The gingham silks, a mixture of silk and cotton, and in pattern like gingham, will do doubt become popular as the season advances.

A Test of Time.

Another way in which a man can tell when he's getting along in years is by noticing whether a reference to the veterans of '95 sounds at all funny to him or not.

PREPARES NOW TO MEET NEXT WINTER'S NEEDS

Red Cross Division Alists 800,000 Pairs of Socks and 185,000 Sweaters to Chapters.

Wool Used Sparingly; Substitutes Employed Wherever Possible—Call for Volunteer Service in Workrooms.

Foreseeing the great needs of the coming winter, the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross has instructed all chapters within its jurisdiction to speed up production. Calls for greatly increased volunteering upon the part of women, in consequence, have gone out.

Next winter our soldiers and sailors will need more socks, sweaters, wristlets, mufflers, helmets and so on, than ever before, and the Red Cross does not intend to be caught short-handed. Chapters in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have been allotted the task of making 800,000 pairs of socks and 185,000 sweaters to be available early in autumn. Work on surgical dressings, hospital and refugee garments must not lag as a result of this allotment.

Women will be asked to come more and more to the workrooms. Those who have been able to give little or none of their day to the Red Cross will be urged to consider seriously the sacrifice of other interests.

Military Needs Come First.

In the meantime, the Red Cross is only using wool for articles the making of which absolutely require it. Substitutes are being employed elsewhere, for the shortage of wool has become such a serious matter that the Red Cross is undertaking among its other activities, the reclamation of discarded garments and the refurbishing and repair of the white uniforms of soldiers so that not an inch of this valuable product shall go to waste.

While the War Industries Board has ruled that in the distribution of wool the military needs of the nation must first be met, it has further ordered that the Red Cross shall have second place on the "preference" list.

In order that there may be no wastage through unco-ordinated buying, the Department of Supplies at national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington will, in future, hold itself responsible for the distribution of wool to chapters. It will requisition such wool as may be necessary and this wool will be released to the Red Cross by the War Industries Board as fast as it is available in excess of the necessary requirements of the Quartermaster's Department.

The custom of independent buying has in a few instances, resulted in the Red Cross Chapters bidding against each other. This will now be done away with. Chapters will be informed by headquarters how much work they must turn out and the material to work on supplied them as fast as possible.

To preclude the keeping of yarn at home, by individuals all wool that is issued must be accounted for. It must either be made up into a finished garment, or that portion of it not so used returned. This move will take all yarn in the Army and Navy colors from the public market so that none can be purchased and made up by individuals into gifts.

This, in turn, will end the overlapping of effort, and no soldier or sailor will receive from home garments which are duplicates of those being given him by the Red Cross.

RED CROSS BUILDING FORTY NURSES' HOUSES AT CAMPS.

The American Red Cross is planning forty Nurses' Recreation Houses, to be built, at the request and with the approval of the Surgeon General, at the cantonments and base hospitals in connection with nurses' barracks. All of these buildings will be in use within the next two months, judging by the speed with which Red Cross work has been completed in the past. Already in many places these club houses, with their white walls and red roofs, are going up under the eyes of the nurses themselves.

The general purpose is to provide every comfort for the nurses serving in the cantonment and base hospitals. The main room, 30 by 75 feet, will have a great open fireplace along one side. Although the room ordinarily will be used as a living room, it will also be adapted for an assembly hall and can be used for dances and receptions.

Overlooking this room is a small balcony, from which motion pictures can be thrown on the wall opposite. Opening off this same room will be a library, a sewing room, equipped with machines and all conveniences, a small laundry and a fully equipped kitchen. The furnishings throughout have been planned to the last detail.

A piano and victrola, folding chairs for assembly purposes, the gold-brown walls and dainty lounges, even the lighting fixtures, with their design suggesting the Red Cross, have been selected and combined to express a sense of home and to supply the needs and add to the comfort of cantonment life. The houses will connect with the nurses' quarters.

Pictures in the Home.

A room without pictures is like a room without windows. Pictures are loopholes of escape to the soul, leading to other scenes and other spheres. Pictures are consolers of loneliness; they are books, they are histories and sermons, which we can read without the trouble of turning over the leaves.—Downing.

ULSTER JURIST ON JUDICIAL RECALL

Judge Clearwater, who for many years has represented the state of New York on the committee of the American Bar Association opposed to judicial recall, and who keeps informed as to the trend of that heresy throughout the country, contributes the following to the New York Sun, which prints his communication on its editorial page.

To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: The report of the committee of the American Bar Association to oppose judicial recall, which will come up for consideration at the association's next annual meeting at Cleveland on August 28, deserves, even in these perilous times, when our thoughts and energies are centered upon the prosecution of the war, the consideration of a greater constituency than the bar.

It calls attention to the sinister fact that judicial recall is the subject of debate in thousands of high schools and in many colleges, especially in the Western States, and that the Socialists of the west and north-west boldly avow the purpose of establishing it in its most pernicious form.

Every student of the times knows that the menace of Socialism has never been more threatening than today, and that all the elements which chafe at restraint gleefully view the utilization of energy and property by the government for the prosecution of the war as a permanent step toward the ultimate abrogation of all constitutional limitations and to the establishment of government by human whim.

The recall of judicial decisions and of judges who deliver opinions at variance with the popular caprice of the moment is so alluring to the non-reflecting mind, and affords so captivating a propaganda to the Socialist, the anarchist and the demagogue that it behooves not only the bar but all patriotic Americans never to relax vigilant opposition to a heresy so destructive of representative government.

Unfortunately, lawyers as a rule are so submerged by the exactions and responsibilities of professional duties that too many of them fail in this obligation to civilization, but neither the bar nor the layman ever should forget that wise maxim of Terence, "Fallacia aliam trudit."

A. T. CLEARWATER.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Friday.

Breakfast—Sliced bananas. Hominy grits with top milk. *Potato toast with *creamed eggs. Coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Browned potatoes and cottage cheese omelet. *Wheatless yeast bread. Sliced fruit. Coffee substitute.

Dinner—Steamed fillets of fish with *olive sauce. Mashed potatoes. Cucumber curls with dressing. *Norwegian prune pudding with boiled custard.

(*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.)
Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

In purchasing fish, take the head and tails as well as the choice middle cuts. When only the best parts of the fish are ordered, the dealer usually charges enough to cover the cost of the whole with the idea that he probably will not sell the ends anyway. Chowder, croquettes and other savory dishes may be made from these ends which you have paid for but seldom take.

Browned Potatoes and Cottage Cheese Omelet.

Chop cold boiled potatoes fine and season them well with salt, pepper and onion juice. Mix with them enough milk to help them brown when turned upon a hot frying pan lightly greased, and cook the potatoes slowly without stirring until they are browned next the pan. Soften some cottage cheese with cream or milk until it will spread easily. Mix with it any desired seasoning such as parsley or pimento, or left-over meat, and spread it thickly over the potatoes. Let mixture stand long enough to warm up the cheese and soften it, then fold over the potatoes, like an omelet, turn it upon a hot platter and serve.

Cucumber Curls.

Peel a cucumber, then pare around it in a continuous curl, as the peeling an apple. Peel thick enough so that curls will not break.

Wheatless Yeast Bread.

2 cups barley flour, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 1½ cups oat flour, 1 cake compressed yeast, 1 cup milk, ¼ cup lukewarm water, 2 teaspoons salt.

Soften the yeast in the lukewarm water. Scald the milk and add the syrup and salt. When this becomes lukewarm, add 1½ cups of barley flour and all the oat flour, sifted. Beat the dough and let it rise until it is light. Add the remaining ½ cup of barley flour and turn the dough into greased pans. Let it rise for 20 to 30 minutes, until it rounds somewhat over the top. Bake the bread in a slow oven from 1 to 1½ hours.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Shell of Lobster.

The shell of the lobster is imbued with a black or bluish pigment, secreted by the true skin, which also gives out the calcareous matter after each molt so that time and pigment are blended together. The pigment becomes red in water at the temperature of 112 degrees.

LIGHT BREAKING

The truth can be suppressed in Germany, but in this country it goes on to conquer. When the famous "memorandum" of Prince Lichnowsky (former German Ambassador at London), telling the truth about the origin of this war, found its way into print without his sanction the Prince was imprisoned and the truth suppressed but his story, already on its way round the world could not be stopped and finally reached the German-language newspapers in the United States. The editors of these newspapers may have doubted its authenticity when they first saw it in American journals, but when it reached them through the papers of neutral countries such as Politiken the organ of Swedish Socialists, the effect was staggering and now one of these editors—the Germania Herold of Milwaukee—openly confesses his conversion from his former views. His article appears in another column of The Freeman today.

"He had believed" the German charge that the war was forced on Germany by her enemies but when one of the "nobles" of the Kaiser's servants unquestionably asserted that Germany encouraged the Austrian attack on Serbia that she declared war on Russia in spite of the Czar's pledge not to begin hostilities and that England's Premier (with whom Lichnowsky was in touch) from the outset earnestly labored for peace, he was overwhelmed, and in his "open confession" he says: "We know now that the British statesmen and with them the statesmen of the Allies did not only have no war-like measures against Germany but to the last minute endeavored to their utmost to avoid it. The blame for the bloodshed lies with the German government. It may be too much to expect that every other naturalized German after being told on his so long will squelch face the truth in this honorable manner, but we may be sure that Lichnowsky's accidentally published statement is performing a great service among our naturalized Germans."

A million American soldiers in France a quarter of a million sent over in June a million and a half more ready to go as fast as ships can take them behind them all the patriotism of one hundred million Americans ready to be converted into military effectiveness just as fast as the Government can use them signal disaster to German arms and defeat to German aims. With our present rate of progress maintained the Allied forces on the western front will in a short time more than equal any army that Germany can oppose to them. This is the time when speed counts double. The early superiority of the allies in men and supplies means the saving of thousands of lives through the shortening of the war.

Miss Kathryn Sellers who has been appointed by the President to be Judge of the Juvenile Court of the District of Columbia is the first woman ever seated on the bench by Federal authority. It is needless to add that she was not one of the suffragettes who attained notoriety by "picketing" the White House but was a capable law clerk in the State Department.

A member of the German Reichstag has been quoted as saying that "military agriculture has proved a failure" presumably referring to the driving of peasant farmers by soldiers and the robbing of them later of the fruits of their labors. In the United States "military agriculture" in the form of voluntarily worked "war gardens" has proved a success.

German cities near the Rhine now know how it feels to be bombed from the air and are yelling at a great rate. Yet Allied airmen aim only at munition plants or other war-contributing structures while Hun airmen make targets of private residences, hotels, school houses, churches and hospitals.

When he says we have "a cowed press, a cowed people and a cowed Congress," Senator Hiram Johnson does not quite equal but calls to mind that tragic German tale of how this meek and peaceful country was betrayed and dragged into war by a wicked man of the name of Wilson.

"Your money or your life" of the old time highwaymen has been amended by Chicago waiters so as to read "Tip or have your soup doped." How many of them have been caught with the "dope" and jailed is not stated.

The wooden shoe now being rapidly restored to use in England is said to be neither ugly nor uncomfortable. That may be, but as worn by our old-time American clog dancers wooden shoes were certainly noisy.

SAVE FARM MANURE.

Need of Conserving it Now So Urgent as at Present Time.

The value of the manure produced in New York state every year equals the annual cost of running the state government. This is one of the statements contained in a bulletin entitled "Farm Manure" just issued by the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. A postal card request for Number 127 will bring a copy to any who may care for it.

It is pointed out that the need for conserving farm manure was never so great as at the present time, the difficulty of securing commercial fertilizers is only one reason for this. The bulletin places emphasis on the humus-making material in the manure as well as the plant nutrients it contains.

What are considered unusually complete tables form a part of the bulletin. They show the amount of manure produced by the commoner farm animals, its composition and approximate trade values. The tables are given on the basis of manure produced by a thousand pounds live weight of animals. They show that a thousand pounds of hens will produce annually on an average of five tons of manure while a thousand pounds of pigs will produce fifteen tons.

This means that the average hen will produce every year ten times its own weight in manure and the pig thirty times its weight.

Computing at pre-war prices the various elements of the manure the value of a ton of fresh manure ranges from $7.25 for that of the hen to $22.00 for that of the pig. Manure is often perhaps usually handled wastefully it is pointed out and the bulletin advocates a wider use of the concrete manure pit.

BREED ENDANGERED

Italians Taking Steps to Preserve Friulan Cattle Strain

The Italian government is taking energetic steps for the preservation of the famous Friulan breed of cattle. The home of this breed was in the provinces now occupied by the Austrians and judging by the experience of other territory occupied by German and Austrian forces the cattle of the country will be entirely wiped out either moved into the interior of Austria or fed to the troops. Blooded cows and bulls of the breed are being gathered together and the breeding of stock has been undertaken by the government. Slaughtering of blooded stock has been prohibited.

This is only one of the problems which the Italian government will have to face when the Italian territory now in the hands of Austria is reconquered. When this takes place the government will have available for the immediate use of the dairy farms of northern Italy calves and full grown stock which will preserve the breed.

Suffragists in Earnest

Washington July 11—Pearls, diamonds and ornaments of silver and gold are pouring into the coffers of the National Woman's party from suffragists who already have given as much money as they can afford to the fight for suffrage.

A beautiful old gold collar set with twenty-four pearls, a pearl pin and a diamond were received recently from Colorado women. Hammered silver ornaments and jewelry came from Philadelphia women.

What is our jewelry worth to us unless American women are free? is the question of the women who sent the jewelry, said Miss Mary Gertrude Fendall treasurer of the Woman's party. With the money the jewelry will bring either by sale or by auction we are going to do our best to bring victory for suffrage before the proposed senate recess.

Cox reported as missing from Camp Lewis without leave Mrs. Charles Cox his stepmother found the hiding place of her stepson on a ranch. With a revolver she forced him to return home take a bath and then wait the arrival of the police. She followed the arresting officer to police headquarters and saw the youth languish behind the bars before she considered her task done. Mrs. Cox has two sons in the army in France.

Absorbing the Sun's Heat.

According to an Italian scientist's figures a square mile of the earth's surface in six hour of sunshine receives heat equivalent to the combustion of more than 2000 tons of coal.

Chairman Brinnier's Army Continues to Campaign For Funds—Poultny Bigelow Writes of the Germans Who Are Disloyal.

The following letter written by Poultny Bigelow will be read with interest:

Malden-on-Hudson, July 8, '18.
Hon. W. D. Brinnier,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—You have no doubt received all the subscriptions from this district and know, therefore, the amount, which neither our postmaster nor myself have yet heard (possibly Monday's Freeman's had not reached the writer.)

Could you conveniently have the names and amounts of subscribers published in the local paper? It would, I venture to think, do much to help the next loan by encouraging those who have already given.

A German, named Knaust, of West Camp, refused to subscribe and gave as his reason that he preferred the Kaiser to Woodrow Wilson. He spent that night in the Saugerties lockup and I have yet to hear what happened to him after being taken by the State troopers to Albany. The widest publicity is advisable for him, methinks, for some of our semi-citizens are still under the impression that Washington was a Hohenzollern tail. When you can spare the time for a call here you will give pleasure to an anti-Hun hermit.

Saturday, October 5 is our patriotic neighborhood gathering and you and your family are cordially invited.

POULTNEY BIGELOW.

The writer of the above letter who wants the names of all the "subscribers" to the War Savings Stamps published will have to arrange with the government for removing the restriction on the use of white paper. There were twenty-eight thousand pledges in Ulster county in the drive. The sale of these stamps is steadily going on. The list of actual pledges is doubtless nearer thirty thousand and is sure to reach fifty thousand in this county in time.

The County Chairman Brinnier's big army that got these tremendous results has not been discharged. The men and women are still faithfully at work. They are campaigning it with the same zeal if not the same amount of work.

The momentum given by the drive of June 22 to July 8 is perceptible in the reports still coming in. The figures are climbing gradually up to the $850,000 mark.

Pledging monthly investments is proving popular and it will measure largely in the aggregate.

Postmaster Wm. C. DeWitt has received the following letter:

Post Office Department,
Third Assistant Postmaster General,
Washington, D. C., July 10, '18.

Mr. Wm. DeWitt

Acting Postmaster, Kingston, N. Y.

I have before me copies of your daily reports of War Savings sales which I have noted with interest and desire to extend congratulations to yourself and county chairman for the showing made in Ulster county.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Express Offices Combined.

There is now only one express company in Kingston. It is the American Railway Express, the big government concern which has taken over all the express companies in the country. The offices and employees of the American, National and Adams companies are retained and the business of the Adams Company which formerly had offices at 29 John street and on the Strand have been merged with the American and all business is now conducted from the offices of the American Railway Express with offices at 41 John street and 42 East Strand and at the Union and O. & W. R. R. stations.

Hotel as Rooming House.

The Hotel Barmann, at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street, is being repainted and renovated and will be used as a rooming house by Baltazar Barmann, owner of the building. There was some talk that it would be used for garage purposes.

The society offers $30,000 in premiums and race purses. First, second, and in some classes third and fourth, premiums are offered on thousands of exhibits. MARINE CORPS
MEN DECORATED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the American Army on the Marne Front, July 10.—General (name deleted) decorated thirty-five Marines with Distinguished Service Medals today for gallantry in the Buresches and Belleau fighting.

Lieut. Col. Logan Folan, who was decorated with the Croix De Guerre for gallantry in fighting south of Verdun in May, and who was decorated also with the Distinguished Service Cross, received another French citation on Wednesday. The latest honor was in recognition of his action in taking a lieutenant and twenty-five Marines into Torcy on the morning of July Fourth, and bringing back two German prisoners, thus identifying the presence of a new German division opposite the American front.

Folan was armed with an automatic pistol. He found two Prussians crouching in a trench and captured them single handed. The American personally led his troops and showed great daring. He took part in the hard fighting around Buresches and Belleau Wood early in June.

Miss Spader Secures Position.

Miss Christine M. Spader of the shorthand department of Spencer's Business School has been placed in a desirable situation as stenographer, typist and general office assistant with the well-known Insurance and Real Estate Agency of Schultz & Bogart, 261 Fair street, this city.

Ornamental Trees.

As ornamental trees the Japanese and Chinese persimmons are entitled to high rank. When the trees are in full leaf they are handsome without other adornment. The trees loaded with orange and orange-red fruits are among the most striking objects in the garden. All thrive in California, and not elsewhere except in some southern states.

STEINMILLER IS REPORTED MISSING

In Casualty List of War Department Issued Today—Sister Receives Card From Him That He Has Been in Hospital.

Among the names listed in the casualty list from the war department printed in another column is that of Frederick Steinmiller of No. 595 Delaware avenue, who is reported as missing in action.

Private Steinmiller's sister, Miss Anna Steinmiller, was talked with over the telephone from The Freeman office this morning, and stated that she had just received a card from her brother stating that he had been sick and confined to a hospital, but had recovered and had been discharged from the hospital.

Private Steinmiller left Kingston with the contingent that went to Camp Dix about three weeks before last Thanksgiving Day. In private life he was employed by Matthew Clark at work in his sand bank at Connelly.

ALL FREIGHT TO WEST SHORE SHEDS

Starting next Monday all freight on the O. & W. and the U. & D. railroads will be handled from the West Shore freight house, as announced in The Freeman. This is in conformity with orders from the United States Railroad Administration. The U. & D. freight house down town, however, will not be closed, as the order only affects the freight house on Cornell street.

The order which becomes effective on Monday will make the West Shore freight house the freight station for all roads into Kingston. It is the intention of the railroad administration wherever possible to consolidate the work of the railroads. The West Shore freight station being centrally located made it the logical choice in consolidating the three freight stations.

Both men were found guilty by a court martial and sentenced to confinement. They will be sent back to the United States at the expiration of their sentence.

KANSAS BANDITS NOW SURROUNDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paola, Kas., July 11.—Reports reaching here today were that one of the posses, headed by R. C. Lee, chief special agent of the "Katy," had surrounded the twelve bandits who held up and robbed a Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 27, southbound, near here late last night, and a gun battle was imminent. The men are said to be in the woods twelve miles south of here.

The holdup was in old time style, more than 150 shots being fired by the robbers and three persons being wounded. Passengers were compelled to remain in the coaches while the robbers took the engine, baggage and express cars more than a mile away and looted them. No estimate could be made today by railroad or express officials concerning the amount of cash and valuables taken.

AFTER THE YEARS

By WALLACE A. MARTIN.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"Everything satisfactory, Mr. Bliss?"

"Better than that. You've done wonderfully fine. Twelve thousand dollars out of an investment of four! What's your bill?"

"The usual five per cent on the original capital."

John Bliss pocketed the draft that had just arrived from New York by mail, and drew out his own check book, filled out a blank and handed it to the broker.

"Oh, say!" in sincere surprise exclaimed the latter—"a thousand dollars!"

"It's worth it to me," averred his generous client. "There's a restriction I want to make: I don't want the public, and especially my wife, to know of this transaction. Of course, it was open and above board, and square and legitimate, but I don't want to be classed as a speculator. It places me at a point I've been trying to reach for years. I intend to make things a little more comfortable for Nancy. Comfort—I'll make it luxury, if the dear thing will let me!"

It had excited and enthused him to make a big stake all at once. It had warmed his heart to think of Nancy. They had been married for thirty years. Their only boy had just enlisted for the war. During the thirty years, husband and wife had been real workers. For ten years both had settled down into a routine existence. With daylight John was at his farm work. Before daylight Nancy was up and around, preparing breakfast and starting the manifold household duties of the day.

So it had come about that greetings had become purely informal, and companionship unconventional and commonplace. He had long since forgotten to kiss her, and she had accepted the lack of demonstrative affection as latent sentimentality obscured by pressing demands for labor. She was firm at times, stern, but never cross or perverse, while he valued her sterling qualities of sacrifice and toil at their true worth.

But now with a positive relief from the fear of old age, penury, a new spirit was born in John. He was quite gay and light-footed as he proceeded to the bank to deposit his draft. He was clear-eyed and smiling as he entered the house, inspired with secret plans for giving Nancy the surprise of her life when the right moment arrived. She was keen-minded enough to note his unusually jubilant mood.

"Letter from Arnold," he announced. "Just got it at the post office. He's been promoted to a sergeant."

"He deserves it, and won it—I am proud of the boy," commented Mrs. Bliss, with feeling. By the way, Miller was here today with his estimate for painting the house."

"We'll let the man we sell it to arrange that," observed John, and Nancy stared at him.

"You're not thinking of that, are you?" she inquired, eyeing him closely.

"Why, yes. Tell you, Nancy: I've been saving up and accumulating. I've had a little business windfall, and I see my way clear to build on the village lot. It's your right, girl, to have it a little better and easier. You've done more than your duty all these years, and I want to see you have a little comfort and happiness."

Her faded cheeks glowed momentarily. The lines of her face softened. He had not called her "girl" for twenty years! His hand rested caressingly upon her arm and she quivered.

"I'd like to have some of our old friends to a sort of party, soon," proceeded John. "We'll have to go out more than we do, when we live in town, you know, and get into the new house."

"Don't go beyond your depth," she said.

"I'll not; did I ever? I'm thinking of how you will enjoy having a little rest from the grind, and a hired girl, and the right kind of clothes. You ain't as young as you once was, but you're as straight as an arrow, and I always held, was a pretty woman."

"Nonsense!" derided Nancy, but the compliment was sweet to her. Then, a week later, when some dozen or more friends passed a social evening at the old farmhouse, and John danced twice, bright and sprightly, with two of his boyhood flames, Nancy experienced quite a pang of jealousy, and was duly startled at the growing high spirit of her usually preoccupied helpmeet.

One day she rested a hand on his shoulder to reach over and adjust a window shade. Her cheek was temptingly near to him. He uttered a chuckle and kissed her.

Smack! He drew back with a tingling cheek from the impetuous slap. Poor soul! Innate modesty, prim disdain of sentiment through twenty years had made her take even the congenial salute as an unwarrantable liberty! Then, overcome with a mighty revulsion in feeling, she burst into tears.

He caught her hand and pulled her to his knee. "Reckon I deserve it—neglecting you so long, Nancy," he said in a low, intense tone; "but that dear cheek is just as velvety to me now as when I courted you in 1885, and I love you ten times more!"

She hid her face on his shoulder with a sigh of ineffable rest and trust. Her lips rested upon the still tingling cheek and soothed it, and the old love awoke like some new spirit of delight in her lonely soul.

TURK FIGHTS WITH FISTS

Story of a Gallipoli "Scrap" That Speaks Well for the "Un-speakable."

There is a tale of Gallipoli that deals with a fight in the open and exhibits the "unspeakable" Turk as a fair and worthy enemy. This is the story.
A young English officer, doing observation work alone, was suddenly confronted by a Turkish officer, similarly equipped. The Turk was as surprised as the Briton, but came forward, revolver in hand. The Englishman had no revolver. He stood his ground, his hands in the large pockets of his tunic.
Seeing that his adversary was unarmed, the Turk, much to the surprise of the Briton, threw down his gun and put up his fists in approved prize ring style. The Englishman put himself on guard, and the next moment the Turk flung himself on him, and the pair began to fight desperately.
The men were about the same age,

the same weight and had adequate knowledge of the art of boxing. They fought without stopping for about ten minutes. By that time each was exhausted, and then paused for a brief rest, only to continue their little private accounting when they had found their breath.

Round after round the fight went on, while out in the Gulf of Saros the ships fired automatically, and back of each of them the field artillery thundered. Neither seemed to be able to get any decisive advantage over the other, and at last Turk and Englishman rolled over on the ground and laughed and laughed.

Just then the Englishman's hand touched something. It was the Turk's pistol. He picked it up and handed it to his enemy. Then the two young men shook hands and each returned to his own lines.

Cactus Candy.

Louisiana has a new product. It is cactus candy. The cactus is peeled, dipped in hot sirup or molasses and coated with powdered sugar.

Women Soldiers.

There were literally scores of women who served in the Northern and Southern armies. Since the war with Germany began more than one woman has been discovered in a soldier's uniform. One, at least, got almost to France before she was detected.

We men of America who, for whatever reasons, are not in the military service honor very greatly the Russian women who entered the army "in the hope of inspiring the men of Russia." We beg to assure them that in case of desperate need the women of America would not hesitate to serve also in the war against the Hun. They have proved their valor in past wars.

Forests of Norway.

The total area of Norway is about 124,500 square miles, of which approximately 26,340 square miles are covered by forests. The greater timber tracts lie in the southern and central sections of the country, where the land is less mountainous and the climate more favorable to forest growth.

BOYS HELPED BY THE POSTMASTER

Letters From Those in Service Who Thank Kingston's Postmaster for His Advice and Material Assistance.

The boys who wrote the following letter to Postmaster DeWitt have the right spirit. Their application for enlistment in the army was made jointly to the postmaster and they were advised and assisted by him, then sent to Poughkeepsie, where they enlisted.

Port Jervis, N. Y., June 26, 1918.
Dear Kind Sir:—Just a few lines to let you know that we passed our examination and are still down at Fort Slocum awaiting orders to be shifted to—we don't know just where, but as soon as we get there we will let you hear from us again. We don't know just how we can thank you for helping us as you did. We thank you one hundred times over again and again and still more than that. As we now are in no position to pay back that bank note that you loaned us (we regret that we cannot pay it now), but as soon as we could pay it we will do so. We will never forget the one great favor you have done for us.

Yours truly,
Privates JOHN A. CIRINA,
JNO. O'SULLIVAN.

Base Hospital, Edgewood, Md., July 8, 1918.

Mr. W. DeWitt:
Dear Sir—I am taking the time to write and tell you how I have made out since I enlisted through your assistance and to thank you for what you have done for me. I enlisted February 18, 1918, and was sent from Poughkeepsie to Fort Slocum, and after spending sixteen days there was sent here to Maryland, and I assure you that the army is a fine place for any fellow, as you have all kinds of experiences.

I will give you some idea of our hours here at the hospital. We get up at 6 a. m. and have ten minutes to get dressed and make our beds, wash up and get outside for roll call. Have our breakfast at 7 a. m. and do our hospital work. Each fellow has ten hours work to do. There are shifts of nurses here at the hospital so that our fellows have ten hours on and fourteen hours off to do as we please. The Y. M. C. A. is some large one; shows about every night, books, magazines to read, all kinds of sports to keep us busy.

There is a fellow down here from Ellenville, who came from Fort Slocum with me. His name is Robert Thornton. He enlisted about the same time that I did. Well, I guess I will close now as it is getting nearness time and I always try to be first, for the first come the first served here, and I have acquired some appetite since I enlisted. Again thanking you for your kind favors, I remain sincerely,
PRIVATE JOSEPH TERRY,
Base Hospital, Edgewood, Md.

STREET CAR MEN
MAY GET RAISE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—Forty per cent increase in the pay of street car conductors and motormen all over the nation will be recommended by the war labor board. It became known this afternoon. To make these increases possible, it will be necessary in many cities to raise the fare rate to six cents. The means taken to secure additional revenue is a secondary consideration, however; the war labor board feels first in importance being that street railway men shall receive a living wage.

Artificial Landscape Targets.

Most young men are city or town bred. Hence few of the soldiers of our national army have a clear idea of distances in nature. As many of the cantonments have not been placed amid scenery like that which marksmen are likely to see "somewhere in France" or "on the way to Berlin," artificial landscapes are provided on which they can practice.—Popular Science Monthly.

CROPS EXCELLENT;
BUSINESS BOOMING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—Business is booming and crops are excellent in practically every part of the United States, according to the federal reserve bulletin for the month ending June 23, issued this afternoon. Business is "very active" and wages are high, but labor is scarce in the following districts:

Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco. The cotton and wheat crops are particularly good, the bulletin said. Foreign trade has greatly increased in all districts, but construction, except for war purposes, is dull. Post office and railroad receipts have increased, and in some cases have doubled, the bulletin said.

BOYS DAMAGE HOUSE.

Children's Court Presented Lively Scene With 40 Boys.

Forty boys and their parents were at the city hall today, and owing to the fact that children's court was not large enough to accommodate those present a session was held in the city court room. The boys had been summoned to the city hall to explain what they knew about the damage to the vacant house at No. 130 Fair street, owned by former Mayor Kraft.

After a lengthy hearing, in which all of the boys were questioned by Judge Schirck, the forty were sifted down to ten boys who confessed that they had broken windows in the vacant house.

The interior of the house was completely wrecked, but according to the parents of the boys in court today the wrecking had been going on for several years past.

There were no arrests made in the case, and all of the boys were warned to hereafter keep away from the property.

Soldiers of the United States, the people of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your stand beside the armies of many nations now fighting in the old world the great battle for human freedom.

The allies will gain new heart and spirit in your company. I wish that I could shake the hand of each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission.

SAW "SUB" SUNK.

Mrs. Kraft Receives Letter From Husband Telling of Trip Across.

Leut. Kraft, Assistant Adjutant and Intelligence Officer of the 309th Infantry, now in France. It appears the vessel was twice attacked, the first time the battle between the patrol and the submarine was about a mile from the transport and they could not tell the result. Some parts of the letter are deleted by the censor.

But the second attack, I shall never forget, as it had its funny side as well as its serious one," says the lieutenant. "We were quite excited after the first encounter, and were still talking about it in the mess room of the transport; we were just having our coffee, when crash-bang, the 'sub' went out of sight and you before we had an Indian crew and the waiters were robed at all times in their native costume, turbans, etc. One of the waiters had his arms full of dishes and at the explosion he did not drop the dishes, but deliberately threw them, crash-bang on the floor. Well, that made with the explosion, which we afterward learned was one of our escorts firing at the 'sub,' such a racket that everyone was sure we had gotten it, and was expecting any minute to see the torpedo come right through the side of the transport. The ship gave several uncanny rolls, and we all rushed on deck just in time to see the bow of a 'sub' about fifty feet from the bow of our ship, with a destroyed horn on its trail. At the same instant it came up the destroyer plugged another shot at it, and the 'sub' went out of sight. I was quiet for a time, then a mass of oil and wreckage came to the surface, indicating most convincingly that we had gotten 'Mr. Fritz' like a rat in a trap. It was the most impressive sight I have ever witnessed, particularly from the fact that we had such a close call. The incident gave us our first vivid impression of the war."

Value of Research.

The breeding of higher type of cereals, which has been in progress for a number of years at the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, is showing tangible results now that the cereal question has so large a bearing on the investigations new types of seed have been developed and have been supplied to farms in different parts of the state where they have been tested under actual field conditions. When these strains have made good the farmers who have conducted the practical tests have acted as distributors for their sections. One thing which at the present time is most desirable is the increase of production through seed improvement, because where high grade seed is planted a much larger yield may be obtained from the same acreage and at the same labor and fertilizer costs than where inferior seed is used. Actual tests have shown that careful breeding has increased the yield of oats from 10 to 30 per cent and similarly marked increases in the yield of wheat have been obtained.

Fine War Garden.

A year or so ago the people of this city were enthusiastically cultivating flower gardens, there being some in the city so fine as to be pictured in prominent periodicals. Today the gardens that attract the most attention are the war gardens, and Kingston can boast a number of splendid ones. Among the number is the garden of C. H. Lovin on Green street. Not a weed is to be seen among the fine crops of vegetables, all exceedingly flourishing and prolific, and withal it is good to look at, being bordered with hardy flowers.

To See is to Believe.

"If I come in your yard with your dog bite me?" asked Weary Willie. "I'm not certain, mister," replied the woman of the house, "but the man who sold him to us says that he'll chase a tramp 10 miles without stopping. But I'm not going to believe it till I see it done."—People's Home Journal.

HART &amp; CO. PICNIC.

Miss Salzmann Lost The Race By A Heel.

The first annual picnic of the employees of G. A. Hart & Company was held last evening at Forsyth's Park, about 50 being present. After a bounteous supper, prepared by the wives, mothers and sweethearts of the employees and delicious ice cream, furnished by the firm, games were indulged in. The girls foot race was won by Miss Margaret Lasher, Miss Salzmann losing the heel of her shoe thereby losing the race by a heel.

One of the thrilling events was the famous slide by Miss Cora Rightmeyer, all holding their breath until she landed on terra firma. Charles West rendered his famous solo and gave his celebrated butterfly dance. The musical numbers were mostly war songs and were directed by Isaac Van Vliet. Mrs. Carrie Broadhead recited several of her beautiful selections during the evening.

At 9 o'clock all wended their way home pronouncing it one of the finest picnics ever.

G. A. Hart and wife were present and as the party dispersed three hearty cheers were given for them by the employees.

G. A. Hart & Company are also observing the Saturday half holiday.

KINGSTON BOYS CLEAN PHYSICALLY

At Recent Health Officers' Convention

It Was Reported 300,000 Boys in Army Had Venereal Disease—Very Few Kingston Boys Had It.

Dr. E. H. Loughran, acting health officer, submitted a very interesting report of the recent convention of the health officers of the state at the regular monthly meeting of the board of health Wednesday evening at the city hall. Dr. Loughran among other things stated that one of the speakers at the convention had said that 300,000 boys in the army had venereal disease in one form or another.

It was brought out by both Dr. Loughran and Dr. Norwood, who had served as examining physicians during the draft, that but very few of Kingston's young men had venereal disease, and that our boys were clean physically.

Dr. Loughran in making his report stated he wished to thank the board for giving him the privilege of attending the convention, which was held at Saratoga on June 25 and 26. The convention was presided over by State Commissioner of Health, Herman M. Biggs, and I can assure you he is the right man in the right place. As Governor Whitman said, he was the only good left-over when he took his position as governor.

"It was the general opinion that this was the most successful conference of all that had been held. Five hundred and fifty-two health officers were present, representing 721 health districts. Among the speakers were Governor Whitman, Dr. Flexner, Dr. Laubach and many others, all specialists in their departments. The trend of the discussions was the prevention of diseases and disease control, the most important being the question of amendments to the sanitary code to provide for the control of venereal diseases, supplementing the act passed by the legislature at its recent session.

"The amendment will go into force August 1, 1918. After that time it will be necessary for every physician in the state outside of New York city, who discovers a suspected case of venereal disease to send a blood specimen to the laboratory of the state department of health, or some other laboratory approved by the state. There examinations will be made and a report sent to the physician who will inform the patient of the seriousness of disease. At the same time the physician will give the patient a pamphlet of instructions issued by the state department. If the patient violates the instructions in reference to venereal disease it then becomes the duty of the physician to immediately report the name of the patient and the offense he has committed to the local health officer. Under the provision of Chapter 264 of Laws of 1918 it then becomes the duty of the health officer to take steps to control the person.

"So you see, they consider the spreading of such diseases as important as our most contagious diseases. The government is surprised to find that the extent it has already developed and for the benefit of future citizens they are going to try and control it."

Dr. Loughran's report was received and he was extended the thanks of the board.

Child Welfare Sign.
The matter of having a suitable sign erected in front of the Child Welfare Station on Hasbrouck avenue was discussed, and it was referred to Secretary Sahloff with power.

The station, in charge of Miss Ella Bates, a trained nurse, has now been open for over a week and the work is progressing as well as can be expected.

Dr. Ingalls Health Officer.
Dr. Loughran was extended a vote of thanks for his work as health officer and Dr. Ingalls was appointed acting health officer from July 15 to August 15.

Those Present.
Mayor Canfield presided at the meeting with Commissioners Norwood, Kaufman and Huhne present. Before adjourning the reports of the officers were received and filed.

Chairman Brinnier's Army Continues to Campaign For Funds—Poulney
Bigelow Writes of the Germans
Who Are Disloyal.

The following letter written by Poulney Bigelow will be read with interest:

Malden-on-Hudson, July 8, '18
Hon. W. D. Brinnier,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—You have no doubt received all the subscriptions from this district and know, therefore, the amount, which neither our postmaster nor myself have yet heard (possibly Monday's Freeman's had not reached the writer.)

Could you conveniently have the names and amounts of subscribers published in the local paper? It would, I venture to think, do much to help the next loan by encouraging those who have already given.

A German, named Knaust, of West Camp, refused to subscribe and gave as his reason that he preferred the Kaiser to Woodrow Wilson. He spent that night in the Saugeities lockup and I have yet to hear what happened to him after being taken by the State troopers to Albany. The widespread publicity is advisable for him, methinks, for some of our semi-citizens are still under the impression that Washington wags a Hohenzol-ern tail. When you can spare the time for a call here you will give pleasure to an anti-Hun hermit.

Saturday, October 5, is our patriotic neighborhood gathering and you and your family are cordially invited.
POULTNEY BIGELOW.

The writer of the above letter who wants the names of all the "subscribers" to the War Savings Stamps published will have to arrange with the government for removing the restriction on the use of white paper.
There were twenty-eight thousand pledges in Ulster county in the drive.
The sale of these stamps is steadily going on. The list of actual pledges is doubtless nearer thirty thousand and is sure to reach fifty thousand in this county in time.

The County Chairman Brinnier's big army that got these tremendous results has not been discharged. The men and women are still faithfully at work. They are campaigning it with the same zeal if not the same amount of work.

The momentum given by the drive of June 22 to July 8 is perceptible in the reports still coming in. The figures are climbing gradually up to the $850,000 mark.

Pledging monthly investments is proving popular and it will measure largely in the aggregate.

Postmaster Wm. C. DeWitt has received the following letter:

Post Office Department,
Third Assistant Postmaster General,
Washington, D. C., July 10, '18.

Mr. Wm. DeWitt,
Acting Postmaster, Kingston, N. Y.

Just before the close of your daily reports of War Savings sales which I have noted with interest and desire to extend congratulations to yourself and country chairman for the showing made in Ulster county.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Express Offices Combined.

There is now only one express company in Kingston. It is the American Railway Express, the big government concern which has taken over all the express companies in the country. The offices and employees of the American National and Adams companies are retained and the business of the Adams Company which formerly had offices at 29
John street and on the Strand have been merged with the American and all business is now conducted from the offices of the American Railway Express with offices at 41 John street and 43 East Strand and at the Union and O. & W. R. R. stations.

Hotel as Rooming House.

The Hotel Barmann, at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street, is being repainted and renovated and will be used as a rooming house by Balhazar Barmann, owner of the building. There was some talk that it would be used for garage purposes.

MARINE CORPS MEN DECORATED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the American Army on the Marne Front, July 10.—General
(name deleted) decorated thirty-five Marines with Distinguished Service Medals today for gallantry in the Bouresches and Belleau fighting.

Lieut. Col. Logan Felan, who was decorated with the Croix De Guerre for gallantry in fighting south of Verdun in May, and who was decorated also with the Distinguished Service Cross, received another French citation on Wednesday. The latest honor was in recognition of his action in taking a Lieutenant and twenty-five Marines into Terey on the morning of July Fourth, and bringing back two German prisoners, thus identifying the presence of a new German division opposite the American front.

Felan was armed with an automatic pistol. He found two Prussians crouching in a trench and captured them single handed. The American personally led his troops and showed great daring. He took part in the hard fighting around Bouresches and Belleau Wood early in June.

Miss Spader Secures Position.

Miss Christine M. Spader of the shorthand department of Spencer's Business School has been placed in a desirable situation as stenographer, typist and general office assistant with the well-known Insurance and Real Estate Agency of Schultz & Bogart, 261 Fair street, this city.

Ornamental Trees.

As ornamental trees the Japanese and Chinese persimmons are entitled to high rank. When the trees are in full leaf they are handsome without other adornment. The trees loaded with orange and orange-red fruits are among the most striking objects in the garden. All thrive in California, and not elsewhere except in some southern states.

STEINMILLER IS REPORTED MISSING

In Casualty List of War Department
Issued Today—Sister Receives Card From Him That He Has Been in Hospital.

Among the names listed in the casualty list from the war department printed in another column is that of Frederick Steinmiller of No. 595 Delaware avenue, who is reported as missing in action.

Private Steinmiller's sister, Miss Anna Steinmiller, was talked with over the telephone from The Freeman office this morning and stated that she had just received a card from her brother stating that he had been sick and confined to a hospital, but had recovered and had been discharged from the hospital.

Private Steinmiller left Kingston with the contingent that went to Camp Dix about three weeks before last Thanksgiving Day. In private life he was employed by Matthew Clark at work in his sand bank at Connelly.

ALL FREIGHT TO WEST SHORE SHEDS

Starting next Monday all freight on the O. & W. and the U. & D. railroads will be handled from the West Shore freight house, as announced in The Freeman. This is in conformity with orders from the United States Railroad Administration. The U. & D. freight house down town, however, will not be closed, as the order only affects the freight house on Cornell street.

The order which becomes effective on Monday will make the West Shore freight house the freight station for all roads into Kingston. It is the intention of the railroad administration wherever possible to consolidate the work of the railroads. The West Shore freight station being centrally located made it the logical choice in consolidating the three freight stations.

KANSAS BANDITS NOW SURROUNDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paola, Kas., July 11.—Reports reaching here today were that one of the posses, headed by R. C. Lee, chief special agent of the "Katy," had surrounded the twelve bandits who held up and robbed a Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 27, southbound, near here late last night, and a gun battle was imminent. The men are said to be in the woods twelve miles south of here.

The holdup was in old time style, more than 150 shots being fired by the robbers and three persons being wounded. Passengers were compelled to remain in the coaches while the robbers took the engine, baggage and express cars more than a mile away and looted them. No estimate could be made today by railroad or express officials concerning the amount of cash and valuables taken.

AFTER THE YEARS

By WALLACE A. MARTIN.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"Everything satisfactory, Mr. Bliss?"
"Better than that. You've done wonderfully fine. Twelve thousand dollars out of an investment of four! What's your bill?"

"The usual five per cent on the original capital."

John Bliss pocketed the draft that had just arrived from New York by mail, and drew out his own check book, filled out a blank and handed it to the broker.

"Oh, say!" in sincere surprise exclaimed the latter—"a thousand dollars!"

"It's worth it to me," averred his generous client. "There's a restriction I want to make: I don't want the public, and especially my wife, to know of this transaction. Of course, it was open and above board, and square and legitimate, but I don't want to be classed as a speculator. It places me at a point I've been trying to reach for years. I intend to make things a little more comfortable for Nancy. Comfort—I'll make it luxury, if the dear thing will let me."

It had excited and enthused him to make a big stake all at once. It had warmed his heart to think of Nancy.
They had been married for thirty years. Their only boy had just enlisted for the war. During the thirty years, husband and wife had been real workers. For ten years both had settled down into a routine existence.
With daylight John was at his farm work. Before daylight Nancy was up and around, preparing breakfast and starting the manifold household duties of the day.

So it had come about that greetings had become purely informal, and companionship unconventional and commonplace. He had long since forgotten to kiss her, and she had accepted the lack of demonstrative affection as latent sentimentality obscured by pressing demands for labor. She was firm at times, stern, but never cross or perverse, while he valued her sterling qualities of sacrifice and toil at their true worth.

But now with a positive relief from the fear of old age, penury, a new spirit was born in John. He was quite gay and light-footed as he proceeded to the bank to deposit his draft. He was clear-eyed and smiling as he entered the house, inspired with secret plans for giving Nancy the surprise of her life when the right moment arrived. She was keen-minded enough to note his unusually jubilant mood.

"Letter from Arnold," he announced.
"Just got it at the post office. He's been promoted to a sergeantant."

"He deserves it, and won't it—I am proud of the boy," commented Mrs.
Bliss, with feeling. By the way, Miller was here today with his estimate for painting the house."

"We'll let the man we sell it to arrange that," observed John, and Nancy stared at him.

"You're not thinking of that, are you?" she inquired, eyeing him closely.

"Why, yes. Tell you, Nancy: I've been saving up and accumulating. I've had a little business windfall, and I see my way clear to build on the village lot. It's your right, girl, to have it a little better and easier. You've done more than your duty all these years, and I want to see you have a little comfort and happiness."

Her faded cheeks glowed momentarily. The lines of her face softened. He had not called her "girl" for twenty years! His hand rested caressingly upon her arm and she quiv-ered.

"I'd like to have some of our old friends to a sort of party, soon," proceeded John. "We'll have to go out more than we do, when we live in town, you know, and get into the new house."

"Don't go beyond your depth," she said.

"I'll not; did I ever? I'm thinking of how you will enjoy having a little rest from the grind, and a hired girl, and the right kind of clothes. You ain't as young as you once was, but you're as straight as an arrow, and,
I always held, was a pretty woman."

"Nonsense!" derided Nancy, but the compliment was sweet to her. Then, a week later, when some dozen or more friends passed a social evening at the old farmhouse, and John danced twice, bright and sprightly, with two of his boyhood flames, Nancy experienced quite a pang of jealousy, and was duly startled at the growing high spirit of her usually preoccupied helpmeet.

One day she rested a hand on his shoulder to reach over and adjust a window shade. Her cheek was temptingly near to him. He uttered a chuckle and kissed her.

Smack! He drew back with a tingling cheek from the impetuous slap.
Poor soul! Innate modesty, prim disdain of sentiment through twenty years had made her take even the congenial salute as an unwarrantable liberty! Then, overcome with a mighty revulsion in feeling, she burst into tears.

He caught her hand and pulled her to his knee. "Reckon I deserve it—neglecting you so long, Nancy," he said in a low, intense tone; "but that dear cheek is just as velvety to me now as when I courted you in 1885, and I love you ten times more!"

She hid her face on his shoulder with a sigh of ineffable rest and trust.
Her lips rested upon the still tingling cheek and soothed it, and the old love awoke like some new spirit of delight, in her lonely soul.

TEUTONIC ORGAN CHANGES VIEWS

Foreign Language Newspaper in West Admits Error of Its Theory of English Responsibility for War.

An editorial headed "An Open Confession," from the Milwaukee Germania-Herald, "It is our duty to make it. We too, were among those who laid the blame for the world war at the door of English statesmen. We, too, have time and again repeated the assertion to our readers that these English statesmen, jealous of Germany's success in the world markets, attempted to 'encircle' it. We, too, have repeatedly stated that Germany is entitled to a place in the sun. We did so in good faith. For we then believed that the organs of the German government proclaimed and we believed at the beginning of the war and years thereafter what most of the other German papers repeated. "We were then fully convinced that the program of English statesmen consisted of nothing less than to stop Germany's commercial and colonial expansion. With us one-half of the world of the Western Hemisphere was convinced through the press of Germany. We believed in the press of the old fatherland, which preached hatred against England everywhere, following its governmental press, where the German voice was sounded. As a paragon of diplomatic baseness, Sir Edward Grey, the dictator of foreign affairs for Great Britain, appeared to us. Now, we and with us the rest of the world, which then credulously listened, are convinced of the opposite. We know now that the British statesmen and with them the statesmen of the Allies did not only have to warfare measures against Germany in mind but to the last minute endeavored to their utmost to avoid the war. The blame for the bloodshed lies with the German government. "Politik, the organ of the Swedish Socialists of the extreme left, on March 15 published the historical document by which this guilt is established. It was a so-called 'memorandum' by Prince Carl Max von Lichnowsky, who before and at the time of the commencement of the war was the ambassador for the German Empire in London. The memorandum was written eighteen months before it was made public. A publication at this time was not intended by the Prince, but upon his instance a number of copies thereof were made. One of these copies came into the hands of a member of the Socialistic minority party of the German Reichstag. The memorandum bears the heading: 'My London Mission, 1912 to 1914,' and is dated at Kuchelna (Lichnowsky's summer residence), in August, 1916. The genuineness of the memorandum is doubted by no one. Prince Lichnowsky himself has by his silence admitted it. The German government likewise by its action in keeping the Prince a prisoner in his castle in Silesia since the date of the publication of the memorandum, as appears from late cable despatches, has now brought the charge of high treason against the Prince. "The proof of the facts is necessary. It is doubly necessary to citizens of German descent in America. This knowledge of these facts will ease the struggle within them which some overcome under difficulties and which others may still be laboring under and who therefore may still be distressed. We do not desire that citizens of German descent shall rely blindly upon our judgment, but shall judge for themselves, and to enable them to do so we will publish verbatim beginning next Sunday the memorandum, 'My London Mission, 1912 to 1914.' Today we simply state that Lichnowsky compiled the principal facts as to the cause of the war in the following manner: "We (and by this 'we' the Prince meant the German government) encouraged Count Berchtold to attack Serbia, although no German interests were at stake and the danger of a world war was known to us. Whether we knew the text of the ultimatum is entirely inconsequential. "2. In the days between the 23d and 30th of July, 1914, when Herr Sazonov expressly declared that Russia would permit no attack upon Serbia, we rejected the British intermediary offers, although Serbia under Russian and British pressure was about to accept the entire ultimatum, and although an agreement in regard to the two controversial points could easily have been arrived at and Count Berchtold himself was satisfied to be content with the answer by Serbia. "3. On July 30, when Count Berchtold wanted to give war, without Austria having been attacked, replied to Russia's mere mobilization by sending an ultimatum to Petersburg, and July 31 we declared war on the Russians, although the Czar had pledged his word that as long as negotiations continued not a man should march—so that we deliberately destroyed the possibility of a peaceful settlement. "4. In the view of these indisputable facts, it is not surprising that the German government outside Germany contributed to the sole guilt for the world war. Is it not intelligible that our enemies declare that they will not rest until a system is destroyed which constitutes a permanent threatening of our neighbors? Must they not otherwise fear that in a few years they will again have to take up arms and again see their provinces overrun and their towns and villages destroyed? Were these people not right who prophesied that the spirit of Treitschke and Bernhardi dominated the German people—the spirit which glorifies war as an evil that does not abhor it as a feudal knight and junker and the caste of warriors who rule and fix our ideals and our values, not the civilian gentleness; that the love of duelling, which inspires our youths at the universities, lives on in those who guide the fortunes of the people? Had not the events at Zabern and the parliamentary debates on that case shown foreign countries how civil rights and freedoms are valued among us when questions of military power are on the other side? "5. Militarism, really a school for the nation and an instrument of policy, makes policy into the instrument of military power. If the patriarchal absolutism of a soldier kingdom renders possible an attitude which would not be permitted by a democracy, which has disengaged itself from military junker influences. "That is what our enemies think and that is what they are bound to think when they see that, in spite of capitalistic industrialism, and in spite of socialistic organization, the living, as Friedrich Nietzsche says, are still governed by the dead. The principal war aim of our enemies, the demoralization of Germany, will be achieved. "It is to be remembered that these words are not those of an Englishman. They are the words of one of the 'nobles' of the German nation, to whom the German Emperor entrusted the most important foreign post, one with whom William II in his youth was closely befriended. And after the publication of the memorandum Herr von Jagow also appeared before the public to make the attempt to defend the policy of the German Empire. 'This policy, in July, 1914, as he was the then responsible representative of that policy as secretary of the German foreign office and in that defense was forced to profess, 'I agree in no manner with Germany in the widely prevailing opinion that England had laid all the mines which led to the war. On the contrary, I believed in Sir Edward Grey's peace love and his then earnest wish to come to an agreement with us. "Who carries the blame that the German people were plunged into a war of furious hate and thereby into a war annihilation? Only those in the service of the Junker (landed and industrial) who are the ruling military caste in Germany, in control of the government. The pan-Germans in their megalomania are the ones who brought about this calamity upon the German people. We will necessarily frequently have to recur to this matter, one of the most important in the world's history, and will to our best knowledge and ability gladly answer questions by our readers in regard thereto. "CAN WITHOUT SUGAR. Fruits Will Keep in Water and May be Used Later on. Washington, D. C., July 11.—"Keep canning, sugar or no sugar," say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. If you can't get enough sugar for home canning put up your fruit without it. The products will keep perfectly until a time when more sugar is available or until a sugar substitute program has been worked out. Fruits put up in this way are excellent for pie-filling and salads and may be used in desserts, puddings, ices and punches. In running fruit without sugar, can the product the day it is picked. Cut, stem, seed and clean fruit by placing in strainer and pouring cold water over it. Pack the product carefully in hot glass jars or tin cans until full. Use a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or pour knife for packing purposes. Pour boiling hot water over the product in the hot jar. Place rubbers and caps in position, not tight. If using tin cans, seal completely. Place in the sterilizer vat, or canner, and sterilize for the length of time given below according to the particular type of outfit used: Minutes Hot water bath, home made or commercial. 30 Wafer seal, 214 degrees. 20 15 pounds steam pressure. 10 10 pounds steam pressure. 10 After sterilizing remove the filled containers. Seal jars; invert to cool and test the joints. Wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place. If tin cans are used it will be found advantageous to plunge them into cold water immediately after sterilization to cool them quickly. "THE KITCHEN CABINET There is good for us who will break no ill. For those who hope there is gladness still. Let us keep the path with a sturdy will. And sing a song as we climb the hill. GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE. Bits of left-over fish may be used in salads, in a white sauce, to serve on toast or put through a sieve, and added to a soufflé make a most satisfying dish. Corn Tamale.—Cook together a can of corn, a half can of tomatoes, one cupful of cornmeal and two cupfuls of corned beef. Add one onion, two well-beaten eggs, and salt and pepper to season. Serve with a sauce made from half a can of tomato, a tablespoonful of onion juice, a dash of red pepper and two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together. Beef Scrapple.—Roil two pounds of flank beef until tender, put the meat through the grinder and add to the meat liquor cornmeal to thicken; cook until thoroughly done; add the meat and seasonings to taste. Pour into a mold and use for frying when sliced in thick slices. This will keep some time if kept cool. Braised Liver With String Beans.—Wash a calf's liver and lard it with bacon. Roll in flour, season with salt, pepper and celery salt. Cook the liver in a saucepan with a little bacon fat. When well seared over add five slices of carrot, one-half an onion, two sprigs of parsley, a bit of bay leaf, one clove, two pepper corns, and two cupfuls of brown stock or water. Cover closely and bake in moderate oven two and a half hours, basting five times during the cooking. Add two tablespoonfuls of orange juice; pour over the liver and serve surrounded with hot seasoned string beans. Steak With Banana.—Roil or pan broil a steak; cut in halves four bananas and lay them in the pan; sprinkle with bits of butter and serve, when well heated through, with the steak. Any occasionally a bottle of good sauce; the collection will last for years, and dishes will be made more appetizing by a pinch of curry or a teaspoonful of mushroom catchup. The cost will not be noticed if they are not purchased at once. Nellie Maxwell

Garbage Utilization.

Hogs can be made to utilize much eatable material which would otherwise be wasted, according to a statement issued by the Connecticut Agricultural college. The report calls attention to the saving accomplished in Minneapolis, where between $50,000 and $60,000 is saved annually by using swine to consume the garbage of the city instead of burning it. Whereas Minneapolis formerly operated its garbage disposal at a loss, the city now receives $1.25 per ton for its garbage as hog feed.

STREET CAR MEN
MAY GET RAISE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—Forty per cent increases in the pay of street car conductors and motormen all over the nation will be recommended by the war labor board, it became known this afternoon. To make these increases possible, it will be necessary in many cities to raise the fare rate to six cents. The means taken to secure additional revenue is a secondary consideration, however; the war labor board feels first in importance being that street railway men shall receive a living wage.

Artificial Landscape Targets.

Most young men are city or town bred. Hence few of the soldiers of our national army have a clear idea of distances in nature. As many of the cantonnements have not been placed amid scenery like that which marks men are likely to see "somewhere in France" or "on the way to Berlin," artificial landscapes are provided on which they can practice.—Popular Science Monthly.

CROPS EXCELLENT;
BUSINESS BOOMING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—Business is booming and crops are excellent in practically every part of the United States, according to the federal reserve bulletin for the month ending June 23, issued this afternoon. Business is "very active" and wages are high, but labor is scarce in the following districts: Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco. The cotton and wheat crops are particularly good, the bulletin said. Foreign trade has greatly increased in all districts, but construction, except for war purposes, is dull. Post office and railroad receipts have increased, and in some cases have doubled, the bulletin said.

BOYS DAMAGE HOUSE.

Children's Court Presented Lively Scene With 40 Boys.

Forty boys and their parents were at the city hall today, and owing to the fact that children's court was not large enough to accommodate those present a session was held in the city court room. The boys had been summoned to the city hall to explain what they knew about the damage to the vacant house at No. 130 Fair street, owned by former Mayor Kraft.

After a lengthy hearing, in which all of the boys were questioned by Judge Schirch, the forty were sifted down to ten boys who confessed that they had broken windows in the vacant house.

The interior of the house was completely wrecked, but according to the parents of the boys in court today the wrecking had been going on for several years past.

There were no arrests made in the case, and all of the boys were warned to hereafter keep away from the property.

A KING'S LETTER.
Received by Kingston Soldier in England at Review.

One of Kingston's soldier boys now "somewhere in France" has sent his folks an autograph letter that was presented to each of the American soldiers when they were reviewed by King George in England. A copy of the king's letter was presented each American soldier as a souvenir of the review. The letter reads as follows:

Windsor Castle.
Soldiers of the United States, the people of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your stand beside the armies of many nations now fighting in the old world the great battle for human freedom.

The allies will gain new heart and spirit in your company. I wish that I could shake the hand of each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission.

April, 1918. GEORGE R. I.

SAW "SUB" SUNK.
Mrs. Kraft Receives Letter From Husband Telling of Trip Across.

Parents and friends of the young men, who have been called to the colors and are being transported across the ocean, in large numbers, will be comforted to learn of the fortiveness of the patrol of the transports, from a letter received by Mrs. William R. Kraft, from her husband.

Leut. Kraft, Assistant Adjutant and Intelligence Officer of the 309th Infantry, now in France. It appears the vessel was twice attacked, the first time the battle between the patrol and the submarine was about a mile from the transport and they could not tell the result. Some parts of the letter are deleted by the censor.

"But the second attack I shall never forget, as it had its funny side as well as its serious one," says the lieutenant. "We were quite excited after the first encounter, and were still talking about it in the mess room of the transport; we were just having our coffee, when crash-bang, something exploded. As I have told you before, we had an Indian crew and the waiters were robed at all times in their native costume, turbans, etc. One of the waiters had his head cut off."

"The explosion was so great that the ship did not drop the dishes, but deliberately threw them crashing on the floor. Well, that made, with the explosion, which we afterward learned was one of our escorts firing at the 'sub,' such a racket that everyone was sure we had gotten it, and was expecting any minute to see the torpedo come right through the side of the mess room. The ship gave several uncanny rolls, and we all rushed on deck just in time to see the bow of a 'sub' about fifty feet from the bow of our ship, with a destroyed hot on its trail. At the same instant it came up the destroyer plugged another shot at it, and the 'sub' went out of sight. All was quiet for a time, then a mass of oil and wreckage came to the surface, indicating most convincingly that we had gotten 'Mr. Fritz' like a rat in a trap. It was the most impressive sight I have ever witnessed."

Particularly from the fact that we had such a close call. The whole incident gave us our first vivid impression of the war."

Value of Research.
The breeding of higher type of cereals, which has been in progress for a number of years at the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, is showing tangible results now that the cereal question looms so large. As a result of these investigations new types of seed have been developed and have been supplied to farmers in different parts of the state where they have been tested under actual field conditions. When these strains have made good the farmers who have conducted the practical tests have acted as distributors for their sections. One thing, however, at the present time is most desirable is the increase of production through seed improvement, because where high grade seed is planted a much larger yield may be obtained from the same acreage and at the same labor and fertilizer costs than where inferior seed is used. Actual tests have shown that careful breeding has increased the yield of oats from 10 to 30 per cent and similarly marked increases in the yield of wheat have been obtained.

Fine War Garden.
A year or so ago the people of this city were enthusiastically cultivating flower gardens, there being some in the city so fine as to be pictured in prominent periodicals. Today the gardens that attract the most attention are the war gardens, and Kingston can boast of some splendid ones. Among the number is the garden of C. H. Lovin on Green street. Not a weed is to be seen among the fine crops of vegetables, all exceedingly flourishing and prolific, and what is so good to look at, being bordered with hardy flowers.

To See Is to Believe.
"If I come in your yard will your dog bite me?" asked Weary Willie. "I'm not certain, mister," replied the woman of the house, "but the man who sold him to us says that he'll chase a tramp 10 miles without stopping. But I'm not going to believe it till I see it done."—People's Home Journal.
